Britain Shocked By Revelations In India Report

Terrible Conditions Bordering on Slavery Are Exposed in Evidence Gathered by Royal Commission—Millions of Industrial Workers Bound to Moneylenders

By NEGLEY FARSON
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, July 3.—An appalling story of wage slavery in India and of children being mortgaged and sold in a Bombay labor mart has given the greatest shock to the British public since Katherine Mayo's "Mother India," in a report by the Royal Commission published yesterday.

This Royal Commission on Indian Labor was appointed at the request of the Indian Government itself. Its chairman was J. H. Whitley, former Speaker of the British House of Commons—distinguished for the British industrial councils which bear his name. Six of the twelve members were Indians. Three of the remainder had virtually lifelong experience in industrial affairs.

After spending the whole of the last two cool seasons traveling 16,000 miles and personally investigating labor conditions in India and Burma, the commission solemnly declares that for many millions of men, women and children employed in industry and on plantations in India, conditions are scandalous.

MILLIONS IN DEBT

At least two-thirds of India's 30,000,000 industrial workers are in debt to moneylenders who charge from 75 to 150 per cent interest. Repayment is deducted from wages. In a number of cases a stage has been reached where the moneylender takes the whole of a worker's wages, paying him only sufficient for subsistence, and even puts members of the worker's family to work on a similar basis.

Children are often "sold" to employers by their parents.

"Workers as young as five years of age may be found in some places working without adequate meal intervals or weekly rest days, and often twelve hours daily," the report says.

"In the making of bidi (an indigenous cigarette) large numbers of young boys are employed for

WALKATHONS CONDEMNED

Provincial Health Officer Says Endurance Tests in B.C. Should Be Stopped

While no official action has been taken by the Government to interfere in a matter that has arisen wholly within municipal limits, strong censure of the holding of walkathons was pronounced here yesterday by Attorney-General R. H. Pooley, K.C., and Dr. Henry Essen Young, Provincial Health Officer.

Mr. Pooley classed walkathons as "nonsensical," but declined to accept responsibility for a state of affairs that has arisen within the municipal limits of Vancouver and Victoria.

Dr. Young, in giving his views on the subject to the Vancouver City Council, at its request, went further, and condemned such exhibitions on the ground of danger to the health of those taking part in them.

ON HEALTH GROUNDS

"There can be no question," Dr. Young stated yesterday, "about the deleterious effect of these absurd exhibitions on the health of those who take part in them. Nothing I can think of could have a more serious undermining effect on the human constitution than the continued exertion prescribed by the rules of some walkathons. The human body can exist without serious impairment for several days without food, and even without water; but it requires systematic rest and sleep above all.

DEATH CHARGED TO ICY NORTH

Trapper of Barren Lands Brings Out Tale of Heroism

THE PAS, Man., July 3 (CP).—One more death is charged to Canada's grim Northland in a tale of starvation, heroism and death unfolded today by a rugged trapper of the Barrens. Del Simons arrived from the North with the story of the death of Benjamin Hendren, formerly of Kelvington, Sask., and the battle for life by his brother and a companion.

TALE OF HEROISM

Simons brought the tale of heroism down from Rabbit River, a small trading post, where the body of Hendren was interred with simple North country dignity. Hendren, with his brother, Charles, and C. McArthur, were travelling through the many lakes and streams in an outboard motor canoe for The Pas, 560 miles to the south. They were a short distance from Lac du Brochet when they lost their craft.

The men had landed on a little rocky island when their canoe, left on the shore, began drifting to midstream. Benjamin Hendren dived into the water, still partly covered by water ice, and attempted to reach it.

HELPLESS FROM CRAMP

He was stricken with cramps and his brother went to his rescue, but was made helpless in a similar manner. McArthur bravely swam to the men and succeeded in saving Charles, but the icy waters sapped his strength and Benjamin was drowned, his body being recovered later.

Five days the two survivors spent without food or matches, struggling to build a raft of thin willows. During their effort the canoe floated about half a mile away. Their work completed, they floated the raft to the canoe and carried the body of Benjamin to burial at Rabbit River.

REFUELING PLANE DELAYS FLYERS

Robbins and Jones Have to Postpone Start for Tokio Until Sunday Morning

SEATTLE, July 3 (AP).—With their monoplane Fort Worth checked and double-checked today for its proposed nonstop flight from Seattle to Tokio, Reg L. Robbins and H. S. Jones, Texas aviators, were impatiently waiting here for their refueling plane to reach Fairbanks, Alaska, to permit them to get under way.

Word from J. J. Mattern and Nick Greener, who are in Edmonton with the trimotored refueling machine, that they could not start for Fairbanks until tomorrow morning, forced Robbins and Jones to postpone the start of their perilous journey until at least Sunday morning.

Reports from various points in Alaska and Bering Strait indicate that excellent flying conditions prevail at least to the coast of Siberia, and the aviators are anxious to get started.

Act Gives Employee Privileges

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—Third reading was given in the House of Commons this afternoon to a bill amending the Companies Act."

The measure covered two amendments. The first provided that any employee of a company holding shares in the concern might enjoy the house-planning scheme inaugurated by industrial and consolidated mining and smelting companies under which loans for house building may be made to employees. As the act now reads an employee, holding five, ten or fifteen shares in a company, by reason of being a shareholder, may not borrow money from the company. The second amendment provides that auditors of a company may be directors of the concern.

From the United States the boys will enter Canada, then Alaska, from there to Bering Straits and across the ice pack to Siberia. From Siberia the adventure will take them through Russia, Germany, Switzerland and thence to Italy. The car, shown in Washington, is especially equipped with broad wheels for crossing the ice.

Schmeling Retains Heavyweight Title By Knockout Route

German Titleholder Retains Championship, Defeating Young Bill Stribling in Fifteenth Round —35,000 See United States Challenger Take Terrific Lacing at Cleveland

By GRANTLAND RICE
(Copyright, 1931, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, CLEVELAND, O., July 3.—Max Schmeling, of Germany, proved his place among the heavyweights under the stars of Ohio tonight. In the big stadium at Cleveland, before 35,000 spectators, the German invader stopped W. L. Stribling, of Georgia, near the end of the fifteenth and final round, when he knocked him down with a terrific right hand punch with only thirty seconds to go.

Stribling, dazed and badly battered, struggled to his feet and threw his weary arms desperately around the German, who began to rain a fusilade of rights and lefts to the Georgian's head and body. Before this last attack Stribling stood so helpless and so badly beaten that Referee George Blake awarded the fight to Schmeling on a technical knockout, with just fourteen seconds to go.

By his all-round work, the German proved his place at the top as Gene Tunney's successor, a worthy holder of the title he won from Jack Sharkey on a foul just a year ago.

Schmeling gave Stribling a terrific and relentless beating that had the Georgian dazed and bloody through

Governor Is Not Likely to Resign

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—Official Ottawa knows nothing about the suggestion contained in the report that Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Ross of Ontario will retire in September. His term does not expire until January 12, 1932, and the view expressed is that His Honor would hardly resign four months before the expiration of his term, but rather would complete his five years.

WILL SAIL FOR TREASURE HUNT

Col. J. E. Leckie to Head Cocos Island Expedition Next Month

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Lured by legendary tales of fabulous treasure buried by pirates of olden days, a party of Vancouver men headed by Col. J. E. Leckie will sail early next month for Cocos Island, 500 miles off the coast of Costa Rica.

It is popularly supposed that more than 300 tons of treasure, valued at $60,000,000, are hidden on Cocos Island, buried there by Thompson, Davis and other famous pirates of early days. Wealthy citizens of Peru are also said to have hidden their gold and jewels there during the revolution of 1883.

FORMER EXPEDITIONS

Three other British Columbia expeditions have searched for treasure on Cocos Island, one in 1892 on the Eliza Edwards, under command of Captain F. S. Mackenzie, of Vancouver; another in 1905, from Victoria, and a third in 1924, in the Gunner.

Colonel Leckie's party will sail direct to Costa Rica, where eight Costa Rican soldiers and an officer, who will guard the interests of the State, will join the expedition. Cocos Island is owned by Costa Rica and the State will claim one-third of whatever treasure is found.

TAKING METALOPHONE

Colonel Leckie and his companions will take with them the metalophone, an electrical device for indicating presence of metal under ground or water.

Captain Gus Whidden, of Vancouver, who made his first treasure hunt to Cocos Island in 1897; W. S. Clayton, who patented the metalophone several years ago and went to Cocos in 1924, and R. Cross, will be members of the expedition.

Pope Presents First Detailed Defence in Encyclical Message

Denies Fascist Charges That Catholic Society Participated in Political Activities—Says Oath Required of Children Is Illicit

VATICAN CITY, July 4 (AP).—In a vigorously-worded encyclical letter Pope Pius XI today presents his first detailed defence of the disbanded Catholic Action organization since the controversy between the Holy See and the Italian Government arose several weeks ago.

It is an unqualified denial of Fascist charges that the Catholic Action participated in political activities, and without mentioning the Fascist party by name the encyclical refers to "irreverences and violences which took place in the presence of and with the participation of members of a political party."

"It is clear," the letter says, "that all these accusations (against Catholic Action) are nothing but a pretext . . . we dare to say even the Catholic Action itself is a pretext.

INFLUENCING YOUNG

"That which was desired and that which was attempted was to tear away from the Catholic Action Society, and through this process to tear away from the Church the young, and all the young.

"This confirmation is made all the more explicit and categorical—we were almost about to say 'solemn and silent'—by the one who not only represents all, but who can do all, and who confirms it in official or quasi-official publications dedicated to the young . . ."

This latter, as well as similar

The convention unanimously voted fullest support of the league to the Queen of Peace Memorial Church, Esquimalt.

BULGARIAN REPRISALS SUSPECTED

New Government Said to Have Refused Passport to Former Premier

CHANCELLERIES OF EUROPE ARE NERVOUS

By JOHN GUNTHER
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

VIENNA, July 3.—Former Premier Andre Liaptchev of Bulgaria was refused a passport to leave the country on a vacation by the new Radical Government under Alexander Malinov, it is reported, but not confirmed, from Sofia today.

This news, if true, is disconcerting, because it may presage reprisals by the Agrarians now in power against those of the reactionary party who were responsible for the bloody white terror in which the Radicals and Agrarians were butchered when the Liaptchev party came into power.

EUROPE NERVOUS

European chancelleries are watching Bulgaria with some nervousness. Premier Malinov is an experienced and cultured statesman, who would be horrified by overt reprisals, but it is feared that he may not be able to control the Agrarians, who are said to be thirsting for revenge.

The Malinov Cabinet includes three Agrarians, one of whom, Mr. Muraviev, Minister of Education, was imprisoned for four years by the Liaptchev party.

RADICALS STRONG

The present Government includes such a strong element of Radicals that it is as if Stambolisky himself—whose Agrarian rule was murderously ended by a Reactionary coup d'etat in 1923—were born again.

It is now known that some members of the Liaptchev group, on being defeated in the recent elections, asked the Bulgarian Minister of War to intervene and use the army to keep the Radical Malinov from power. The army chiefs, doubtless inspired by King Boris, refused.

The elections overturned the Bulgarian boards so completely that something new and equally unexpected may happen. For some days Bulgarian developments will bear close watching, diplomats fear.

NEITHER A BULGARIAN

It is a curious fact that neither the outgoing Bulgarian Premier, Mr. Liaptchev, nor the incoming one, Mr. Malinov, is, strictly speaking, a Bulgarian. Mr. Liaptchev is a Macedonian, and Mr. Malinov is a Russian, born in Bessarabia and educated at Leningrad.

JONES' TAX IS TWICE ADOPTED

New Zealand and New South Wales Base Tax Bills on B.C. Measure

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, Hon. J. W. Jones, British Columbia's Minister of Finance, is today a happy man. For three months, beginning with the passage of the special revenue tax of 1 per cent on incomes and wages in the province, Mr. Jones stood solidly in defence of the principles of his tax measure, universal save for the limitation of minimum exempted earnings. Now his example has been followed by Governments in two British Dominions, including the Government of New South Wales, Australia, and the Government of New Zealand.

EXAMINED JONES' BILL

Both the New Zealand and the Australian tax bills are based on the British Columbia measure, and were prepared after the examination of the Jones bill, copies of which, together with all related forms and data, were requested from the Minister of Finance by the two Antipodean Governments some two months ago.

The special revenue tax went into effect in British Columbia on April 1 last, calling for 1 per cent additional on incomes and 1 per cent on wages over the specified limits of $15 and $25 weekly for earnings in single and married classes. At the same time the tax on banks was increased 20 per cent, and that on certain public utilities 12½ per cent. For weeks Mr. Jones withstood the protests that centred around him, until the fairness of the plan was made manifest.

FORESTRY STATIONS CONTINUE AS USUAL

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—Forestry stations at Indian Head and Sutherland, Sask., which have been transferred from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Agriculture, will continue this year to perform as much work as in former years. This statement was made in the House of Commons today by Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior.

The minister at the time was putting through a vote for $400,000 for advancement of forest conservation, stock taking of forest resources, stations and the like. The item carried.

AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN FRANCE AND U.S. ON MAIN POINTS OF HOOVER PROPOSAL

Official Statement Says Other Divergencies of View on Debt Moratorium Remain to Be Settled —These Will Be Considered at Meeting of French Cabinet Today

PARIS, July 4 (AP).—Agreement on all the important points at issue in connection with President Hoover's war debt plan has been reached between France and the United States, an official statement issued early this morning said.

Such divergencies of views as remain—and they are of lesser importance—will be submitted to a meeting of the French Cabinet to be held today. No complete accord was reached, it was indicated by an official statement.

The statement said:

"Mr. Mellon and Ambassador Edge met last night with M. Briand, Flandin and Francois-Poncet. Premier Laval, who was called to the Chamber of Deputies by parliamentary work, was unable to be present at the beginning of the meeting.

CONTINUED EXAMINATION

"Delegates of the two Governments continued examination of the proposal of President Hoover and of the French Note.

"Mr. Mellon confirmed that the American Government had decided to accept maintenance of payment by Germany of the unconditional annuity provided for in the Young Plan.

"Other divergencies of views have been removed.

"Those which subsist, and which are less important, will be submitted to a meeting of the Cabinet, which will be held today, Saturday."

OTHERS ARE INVOLVED

The accord on the technical and financial part of the negotiations it seems, under reserve that there will come an adhesion from the other interested Powers, "should be acquired very soon."

This section of the statement is regarded as expressing a frank realization that any part of the Franco-American accord which affects the Young Plan must later receive the approval of the signatories of that instrument.

This refers particularly to the question of the guarantee fund.

It was made clear tonight that France feels it should not be necessary for her to deposit 500,000,000 gold marks (about $125,000,000) with the Bank for International Settlements in the event that Germany requires a moratorium after 1932.

BANK HAS OPTION

France has pointed out that the Young Plan gives the world bank the option as to whether the guarantee fund should be deposited.

Roses and Cheers Greet Premier in House on Birthday

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—The House of Commons today opened in a burst of applause which continued for several minutes, the recipient of the tribute being the Prime Minister, who today celebrated his sixty-first birthday. On Mr. Bennett's desk was a basket of roses. When he entered the House he was greeted with an ovation in which members of all parties joined.

WINS ACTION FOR DAMAGES

Baron Quickstad Awarded $10,000 for Breach of Mining Contract

Baron Harry Quickstad, Seattle mining man, was awarded $10,000 general and special damages, in a judgment handed down here yesterday morning by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, in the Supreme Court of British Columbia, against John McNeill and James J. Connors, owners of a group of mineral claims in the Cassiar Mining District.

SUED FOR $50,000

Baron Quickstad entered action in the Supreme Court here during the latter part of May for $50,000 damages against McNeill and Connors for breach of contract dated May 25, 1925, involving the sale of eleven mineral claims, property of the defendants and situated in the Portland Canal mining division of the Cassiar district and known as the Red Top Mine. The Baron, through his agent, secured an option on the claims in the amount of $250,000, for which option a cash payment of $1,000 was made.

ORDERED OFF PROPERTY

On July 20, 1925, a payment of $10,000 was to have been made to McNeill and Connors, but was not made at that time. J. F. Duthie, wealthy mining man of Seattle, became interested in the claims and advanced $10,000 to Quickstad to make the payment. When Quickstad and Duthie went to the Red Top to examine the claims, they were ordered off the property. Duthie had arranged, according to the evidence submitted at the trial, to pay the amount into the Dexter-

Dog Leaps Over Falls Unharmed

NIAGARA FALLS, July 3.—Men have lost their lives attempting a feat which a police dog accomplished successfully—the trip over Niagara Falls.

The dog attracted attention by wading into the river, just above the American Falls, and the animal finally was tied up.

The dog broke the cord, ran to the bank and leaped into the swift current in midstream. It was a matter of seconds only until the swirling torrent hurled the dog over the brink of the cataract.

Sightseers on Prospect Point, at the eastern edge of the American Falls, saw the animal hurled clear of the rockpile at the base of the falls, to drop into a pool some distance out from the cataract. It swam about for a mew minutes, and then clambered on a flat rock, still trailing part of the rope with which it had been tied.

INSTRUCTS SONS TO LEAVE STATES

MEXICO CITY, July 3 (AP).—The newspapers here were informed tonight that President Ortiz Rubio had instructed his two sons, Guillermo and Fernando, who are now in New York, to leave the United States and to go to Canada to study. No reason for his instructions was given.

LAND TAX BILL GOES TO LORDS

Labor Has Fifty-Two Majority to Pass Third Reading of Budget Feature

LONDON, July 3 (CP).—The bill for taxing land values, principal feature of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden's recent budget, now goes to the House of Lords. By a vote of 274 to 222, a Government majority of fifty-two, the House of Commons this afternoon gave third reading to the finance bill in which the proposal is incorporated.

As they passed through the division lobbies the Labor members were heard singing, "God Gave the Land to the People."

"ONLY A BEGINNING"

Closing the debate, Mr. Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, broadly hinted the bill was only a beginning. "This is the first real attack on the land monopoly," he said. "I trust more courageous Parliaments will deal with this problem more drastically than we have done.

"The land monopoly is the greatest burden there is on industry—the object of this bill is to assert the right of the community to ownership of land."

Labor members and Lloyd George Liberals cheered loudly as the result of the division was announced.

"It means a hundred seats to us," a Conservative shouted.

DEPENDS ON RULING

The course of the bill in the House of Lords will largely be dependent on whether the Speaker of the House of Commons certifies it as a money bill. If the bill is so certified, the Lords cannot amend it despite the overwhelming Conservative majority in the Upper Chamber.

Bankruptcy Act Amendment Lost

OTTAWA, July 3.—The House of Commons tonight defeated the private bill to amend the Bankruptcy Act requiring bankruptcy proceedings to be brought in the district in which the debtor resides. There was no discussion on second reading. The bill was sponsored by Maurice Brasset (Liberal, Gaspe), but originated in the Senate.

Cowardly Attack on Old Servitor Follows Battle

By NEGLEY FARSON
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, July 3.—A swift and dramatic sequel to the unbelievable battle royal in the House of Commons last night, when John McGovern, Socialist member for Glasgow, was dragged bodily from the House by six-foot attendants of the sergeant-at-arms, is a parliamentary paper today, placing on record its emphatic disapproval of what it calls the "disgraceful, unprovoked and cowardly attack" by another Socialist member, John Beckett, on a servant of the House. Mr. Beckett, it is said, punched a sixty-year-old servitor and then kicked him severely.

Scandalized Parliament, in which the Labor members are strongest in voicing their disgust, demands that Mr. Beckett be suspended until he makes due apologies. And the historic standing order of the House of Commons has been immediately changed to read that the suspension of any member shall last one month, during which his salary shall not be paid.

Last night's scene, which was unparalleled since the Irish Nationalists marched out thirty years ago, was a result of Mr. McGovern's refusal to leave his seat on the Speaker's order. Mr. McGovern, who was protesting some minor point, clung to the benches, kicked, hit and wrestled until friends came to his rescue.

SHARK CARRIES MAN TO DEATH

Nova Scotia Fisherman Relates Grim Story of Battle With Seas

SHERBROOKE, Nova Scotia, July 3 (CP).—The story of how his companion, attempting to reach shore in rough water after their small boat capsized, was seized by what the narrator believed to be a huge shark, and carried under water to his death, was told in halting speech, through an interpreter, by Mapic Julku, today.

Julku was found on the beach, unconscious, by residents of the little fishing community of Marie Joseph. They had seen him making his way towards shore, half swimming, half supporting himself on wreckage. There Julku told his story that a great shark form had sprung from the sea, smashed the home-made boat of Julku and Mapic Rappo, and carried Rappo off.

WENT TO SHOOT SEALS

They had gone off to shoot seals, Julku said, in weather so rough that about two miles off shore their craft, built by their own hands to pursue the seal hunt when other work failed, was capsized. They scrambled on to the boat, but were washed off.

They started to swim for shore and Rappo dropped behind. Suddenly, Julku said, he heard Rappo scream and, looking backward, saw the body of his friend crosswise between the jaws of an enormous shark, which disappeared downward, while three or four others swarmed behind it.

WILL PROCEED ON BELCOURT ACTION

Conservative Senators in Caucus Decide to Continue With Motion in Upper Chamber

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—When Conservative Senators met in caucus today, decision was made to proceed with the motion of Senator Rufus Pope to consider the situation of Hon. N. A. Belcourt in connection with negotiations on behalf of Canada, a London, England, paper, Legal action for $5,000 against The Canada in connection with the negotiations carried on with Government departments during the regime of the former Government is still in the courts.

The motion of Senator Pope asks for the appointment of a committee to consider the situation of Senator Belcourt under the Independence of Parliament Act.

The motion is to come up for discussion on Wednesday.

PLAN OUTLINED FOR ELEVATORS

Premier John Bracken Announces Government's Scheme for Relief

WINNIPEG, July 3 (CP).—Plans for reorganization of Manitoba Pool Elevators, Limited, subsidiary of the Wheat Pool, were outlined here today by Premier John Bracken, as follows:

The Government will settle with the banks for the 1929 crop guarantees, amounting to approximately $3,500,000, by payment in cash or otherwise; the Government will relieve the pool from payment of any amount over the above that can be realized out of the existing assets of the pool, including the amounts payable by local elevator associations for their elevators. This will involve the assumption by the Government of more than $1,100,000 net loss on the total liability.

ARRANGE REDUCTIONS

The Government is prepared to arrange that the amount still payable on the purchase price of the local elevators shall be reduced from $2,400,000 to $2,100,000. The rates of interest payable will be reduced from 7 to 5 per cent—a saving of $60,000 a year to the farmer members. Both payments of interest and balance owing on the elevators shall be taken out of operating profits and elevator and terminal earnings, and not by means of deductions from the price paid the farmer for his grain.

The Government will give all the local associations twenty years in which to repay the balance which will still remain to be paid for the elevators.

INDIVIDUALS RELIEVED

The writing down of the liability by the Government will relieve each individual of any obligation to pay back to the Government or the pool the overpayments he may have received on the 1929 crop.

the last nine rounds. Stribling's face was battered to a gory pulp. His nose and mouth were cut and bleeding, and he only held his own down the stretch by clinching and wrestling as he struggled wearily to certain defeat.

Through more than one round after the sixth it looked as if Schmeling would score his knockout, as he had Stribling almost out on his feet and barely able to hold on until the bell gave him just strength enough to carry on again.

The finish was sudden, unexpected and decisive.

Stribling appeared certain to survive the fifteenth, as he came up fresher than he had looked in some rounds, and started an offensive of his own. He was just about holding his own when suddenly, with less than a minute to go, Schmeling nailed him a smashing right to the chin, and Schmeling can hit with the force of a battle axe when he gets a clean shot at his target with this right.

He caught Stribling squarely on the chin, and the Georgian fell face forward, with his battered face in the resin. He was practically out, but at the count of nine he finally staggered to his feet, too helpless to make any defence except through clinching. His complete helplessness finally reached such a state that Referee Blake was forced to call Schmeling away from his fast and furious attack and lift his glove in token of victory.

Stribling started by taking the lead through the first five rounds. All this time the stolid German plodded and plugged along, forcing his way, but doing no damage. All this time Stribling was scoring the greater number of punches and showing the greater speed and better boxing skill. But he was making no headway. He lacked the aggressiveness to follow up any lead he might establish. He was merely jabbing and tapping, missing his harder blows which Schmeling either blocked or ducked.

INCREASES PACE

Then, in the sixth round, the German began to increase his pace. He had Stribling's nose cut and bleeding, and his mouth showing signs of wear and tear from inside punching.

Through the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds the German surged in like the surf at high tide. He was not only outslugging Stribling and beating him to the punch, but he was also outboxing him. He began to storm the Georgian with every variety of attack, rights and lefts to the head and body, uppercuts, short jolts, a varied assortment that had his opponent not only beaten up but badly bewildered.

As Schmeling increased his pace and his aggressiveness, Stribling began to wither and fade away. Finally the first big roar from the crowd came in the tenth. Early in this round Schmeling landed a smashing right to the jaw and Stribling almost fell. The German went after him like a tiger. He rained blows with both hands to the head and body as Stribling reeled and staggered around the ring, almost out upon his feet.

It never seemed possible that he could go another round after the whaling he absorbed in this canto.

But he had too much ringcraft and cunning to be beaten so quickly. He had never been knocked out before and he was giving all he had—no longer to win—but to escape the dreaded and almost certain knockout.

TRYING TO LAST

Stribling had no longer any semblance of attack. He was merely trying to last out the fifteen rounds by using every known grip and clinch to stay on his feet and tie up the German, who was now throwing rights and lefts with power and accuracy whenever he could break loose from the pythonic grip which so often tied up his arms.

Schmeling had taken everything Stribling had to throw at him without backing up or showing a mark. He had never been staggered. He had proved his ability to take it and to come on back after those first five rounds, and he showed his fine condition by the speed of his closing attack. He looked almost as bad in the first three or four rounds against Sharkey, when he had just started to come along as Sharkey fouled him.

Max is evidently a slow starter, but he showed tonight that he knew how to finish, how to box and how to hit. He was a greatly improved fighter over anything he has shown so far, and his steady aggressiveness means that he will be a popular champion, who is willing to carry the war to the enemy's fort.

Bill Will Aid in Speeding Work of Pension Tribunal

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP)—First reading was given in the House of Commons today to a Government bill which would make several important changes to the war pensions machinery. It would increase from nine to twelve the members of the pensions tribunal, and the number of commission counsel from seven to ten.

In sponsoring the bill, Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions, said it was to circumvent the congestion of applications for pensions which developed when the new machinery was established.

BLAINE PORTAL IS COMMENDED

Gradual Development of International Peace Memorial Contemplated

Dedication of twenty acres of park land on the United States side of the border at the Peace Portal, Blaine, will probably be matched by Canadian plans to create a park area extending this work on Canadian soil, it was intimated yesterday by Premier Tolmie, on his return from the international ceremony at the Peach Arch. Private interests, stated the Premier, had the work in hand.

Year by year the plans started at Blaine have become of increasing importance, viewed in the light of a lasting symbol of peace between nations, and support for the cause of arbitration of any international differences that may from time to time arise, the Premier contended.

The Province, the Premier said, was very sympathetic to the proposals that an international park be created in the area, to be started in a small way, and developed as time and funds permit.

EARWIG PLAGUE CAUSE OF ALARM

City Cemetery Found Infested With Insects to Serious Extent It Is Reported

Investigation by the Department of Agriculture in certain sections of the city yesterday revealed a plague of the pests concentrated in several areas.

At Ross Bay Cemetery, according to the officials, earwigs have overrun the whole enclosure, 250 insects being picked from a single vase on one grave plot.

Elsewhere similar conditions were said to prevail, and led to a special appeal to property owners to take effective measures to put an end to the pest.

The earwigs may be trapped in inverted pots, and means of extermination are many. Information on the subject may be secured from the Provincial entomologist, it was stated.

BRITAIN SHOCKED BY REVELATIONS IN INDIA REPORT

long hours, where discipline is strict. Indeed, there is reason to believe that corporal punishment and other disciplinary measures of a reprehensible kind are sometimes resorted to in the case of small children."

MEMBER DISAGREES

In this connection it is interesting to point out that Sir Victor Sassoon, member of an influential British Jewish family, adds a minute to his signature on the commission report, stating that he disagrees with the proposal to reduce the legal working week in factories from sixty to fifty-four hours. The Sassoon family owns big cotton mills in Bombay. The wages of Bombay male cotton workers are less than $16 a month, and for women less than $7.50.

Particularly interesting is the section of the report showing how the Indian industrial worker, unlike the workers of Western Europe and the United States, is drawn from a village, a countryman at heart, forced to labor at mill work owing to poor agricultural conditions and "pushed, not pulled, into the city," always hoping and looking forward to the time when he can return to his peaceful village hearth—and the reports show how few indeed are the Indian employers who even recognize the right of this miserable toiler to go on leave.

HOUSING CONDITIONS

The report reveals the appalling housing conditions of these workers in city areas:

"Seventy-five per cent of the houses in Bombay are one-roomed, and the Labor Office family budget investigation of 1921-22 showed that 97 per cent of the working classes were accommodated in one-roomed tenements with as many as six to nine persons living in one room."

"Three out of every ten babies born in Bombay and other centres die before the age of one year, and the average expectation of life at birth in India is twenty-five years, as compared with fifty-four in Great Britain."

The report vents it most scathing condemnation on the way organized Indian jobbers recruit labor from the villages. These "sardars," or intermediaries between employers and employed, have the power to engage and also discharge workmen in most factories and thus are able to enrich themselves by bribery and extortion. As they are paid on a commission basis, each fresh turnover means fresh bribes, with the result that labor turnover in Indian factories amounts to more than 5 per cent a month.

The report hints at serious abuses arising from the powers now exercised over women by male jobbers.

The commission makes no fewer than 357 recommendations to try to clean up such a fearful mess. The main one is that working hours should legally be reduced from sixty to fifty-four hours a week, with a daily limit of ten hours. The maximum working day for children should be limited to five hours. Wages should be raised, and it should be made illegal for parents to mortgage their children for advances from moneylenders.

The British press, with characteristic fairness, warns that such awful conditions should not be regarded as prima facie evidence of the "inherent wickedness of Indians," and points out the evil conditions existing in Lancashire before the British industrial revolution, which took place under Queen Victoria.

LIVE AS OUTCASTS

However, though many Bombay mills are British-managed today, more than 80 per cent of their total capital is owned by Indians, principally Parsee millionaires whose gaudy palaces adorn Malabar Hill. Approximately 60,000,000 Indian untouchables, most of them wretched toilers in the fields, still live in little wattle huts as absolute outcasts on the fringes of Hindu villages, an existence little better than that of beasts of the field.

Most of the Moslem peasants are illiterate, unorganized and also in the hands of Hindu moneylenders throughout their entire lives. The British, in fact, even had to secure the passing of a law in Punjab, a strong Moslem centre, preventing the moneylenders—nearly all of whom are Hindus—from seizing land for debt.

Strong opinion among British here is that the recommendations of the commission should be carried out without delay. But until the future of the government of India is settled at some forthcoming round table conference or by other means, it will not be clear who is empowered to put them into effect.

statements, was interpreted as a reference to Premier Mussolini.

"We cannot be grateful to one," the Pontiff writes in another section, "who, after putting out of existence Socialism and anti-religious organizations . . . has permitted them to be so generally readmitted . . . and has made them even stronger and more dangerous, inasmuch as they are now hidden and also protected by their new uniform."

OATH IS ILLICIT

"You ask us," the encyclical reads, ". . . what is to be thought about the formula of an oath which even little boys and girls are obliged to take about executing orders without discussion, from an authority which . . . can give orders against all truth and justice . . . The answer from the Catholic point of view, and also from a human point of view, is inevitably only one —such an oath as it stands is illicit."

This encyclical letter, entitled "Concerning Catholic Action," is addressed to the dignitaries of the Church.

B.C. DISTRICTS ARE REDEFINED

Eleven Assisted School Districts Reclassified as Organized Rural Areas

As symptoms of the growing-up process, eleven assisted school districts were reclassified as rural school areas this week by the Provincial Government. The ruling, it was stated by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, would mean little change in a financial way to the areas concerned, as in rural school districts the Province pays 62 per cent of all teachers' salaries.

Three districts were redefined as assisted school areas, and will receive slightly more assistance from the Province than in the past. In assisted school areas the Province pays all but one mill on the dollar for school purposes.

Schools in assisted districts altered to organized rural classification included Cowichan Lake, Jordan River, Little Qualicum, Sahtlam, Sechelt, Blubber Bay, Bowser, Brisco, Montrose, Sinclair Mills and Westsyde school districts. Valdez Island district was redefined as to its boundaries; while Proctor, Corbin and Baynes Lake school districts were classified as assisted school areas.

MARKET BUREAU PLAN STUDIED

Fruitgrowers of Okanagan Seek Distribution of Daily Clearing Data

Establishment of a bureau to give daily marketing information as to the movement and prices obtained for British Columbia fruits, at some point in the Okanagan Valley, is being reviewed by the Provincial Government, it was stated yesterday by Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture. Request for the creation of such a bureau, to operate on completely independent lines and with some form of government assistance, was suggested to the Province recently by growers and shippers in the Valley.

Shippers affected by the plan met yesterday at Kelowna, where they were reported in conference with Wallace W. Duncan, director of markets for the province. The markets branch of the department already issues a daily report on crop conditions and marketing, and it is in extension of this work that the suggested Okanagan bureau is being proposed.

Until the report of Mr. Duncan has been received by the Government, no decision would be taken in the matter, Mr. Atkinson indicated.

The question of daily market information, together with prices obtained on sales from day to day, was laid before the agricultural committee of the Legislature at the last session by independent growers and shippers in the Valley. The plan is now readvanced, and is receiving the consideration of growers and shippers in the area.

BELIEVES TRADE ON UPWARD TURN

Visitor From Southern California Expresses Opinion Worst of Depression Is Now Past

Charles F. Mason, president and general manager of the Associated Telephone Company, which operates in many of the smaller cities in Southern California, was a visitor in Victoria for a few days this week, in the course of a tour which he is making with Mrs. Mason, of the B.C. coast section. He left yesterday for the Mainland and will spend some days at Harrison, with the possibility of a return to Victoria.

Mr. Mason is of the opinion that the end of the business depression has been reached. He says information in the Western States is that the industrial centres in the Eastern part of the country are regaining lost ground and confidence throughout the whole of the country is being gradually restored. He does not anticipate any sudden restoration, but he believes that the world may expect gradual improvement of conditions from now on.

Mr. Mason is well acquainted with Harry R. Leech, who, of late years, has become so much interested in Victoria, and who is always anxious to extol the attractions of Victoria to his friends in the South.

PARENTAGE CASE HEARING PENDING

Three Chinese Children in Missionary Home Here Awaiting Decision of Supreme Court

Three Chinese children remain in a missionary home here, pending hearing in Supreme Court at Vancouver, on September 22, by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, of the rights to custody of the respective parents.

The father, Wong Dew, Vancouver, has the support of the Wong Tong, and J. A. Russell, as counsel.

The mother, Mah Hang, is represented by M. B. O'Dell.

On the eve of departure for China, the mother, accompanied by her children, was halted by a writ of habeas corpus. The parents were married by Chinese custom at Cumberland eight years ago, but the marriage, it is said, has no legal effect in British Columbia. The children are two boys, aged seven and six, and a girl of four.

WALKATHONS CONDEMNED

"SHOULD BE STOPPED"

"An ordinary person should have eight hours' sleep each day, and young, growing boys and girls require more than this for their health, and the preservation of their nervous system, if not for their mentality itself. It is nonsense to imagine a person can keep in movement for twenty-four hours continuously day after day with ten or fifteen minutes' rest each hour without serious results to his health. In my opinion, from a health standpoint, these walkathons should be stopped at once," Dr. Young concluded.

Mr. Pooley said that the Province did not contemplate interfering with the progress of walkathons now in operation, as these were all being held within city limits, and that the matter was one for the municipal administrations concerned. At the same time, he and other members of the Government made no secret of the fact that they regard the walkathons with disfavor.

HAWKS' HOPS SHOW SPEED

Famous Flyer Takes Day's Meals in Four Cities Wide Apart

MONTREAL, July 3 (CP).—Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa were drawn closer together today by a series of sensational flying performances of Captain Frank M. Hawks, famous United States speed pilot.

Montreal is no more than thirty-two minutes from Ottawa; forty-eight minutes from Quebec and 108 minutes from Toronto, while the Capital and Toronto are only seventy minutes apart. These were the times taken by Hawks and his monoplane today in a flight from Quebec to Montreal, then on to Toronto, and back to Montreal, via Ottawa. Several of these times were hailed as new records.

ALIGHTED FOR MEALS

Hawks flew from Quebec to Montreal, where he enjoyed breakfast, had luncheon in Toronto, tea in Ottawa as guest of Hon. Hanford MacNider, United States Minister, and was back in Montreal to be guest of the Montreal Light Aeroplane Club at dinner.

Altogether, Captain Hawks was in the air four hours eighteen minutes, and during that time covered an air distance of approximately 850 miles, averaging 197.6 miles per hour. The achievement rivals in some measure the notable recent flight of Captain Hawks from Paris to London, on to Berlin and back to Paris in a single day; also the flight that took him from London to Rome and back in a single day.

Business Pupils Given Diplomas

The annual presentation of diplomas of the Royal Business College took place last evening at the Connaught Seamen's Institute, Mrs. L. A. Genge making the presentations for the principal, Miss E. Sayer, and Mrs. Wilfrid Ord reading the names of those who had passed the examinations in shorthand, speed and theory as laid down by the Pan-American Institute for secretaries and court reporters (formerly the National Institute of Secretaries, of London, England, and U.S.A.). Those receiving diplomas were Violet Murray, Margaret Watson, Phyllis Adams, Marjorie E. Bell, Lexie Cruickshank, Gwen Griggs, Kate Parker, Marion Kidd, Margaret Sundin and Josephine Delves.

It was announced that Miss Lexie Cruickshank took the leading marks for 1931, with an average of more than 98 per cent. The other general proficiency diploma winners were awarded to Violet Murray, Kate Parker, Phyllis Adams and Josephine Delves.

Dancing and supper followed the presentation of the diplomas, the hall being prettily decorated with the school colors, mauve and green, carried out with Canterbury bells and greenery.

B.C. REALTORS ARE REGISTERED

Upwards of 750 Agents and Salesmen Listed for Business in Province, Roster Shows

Upwards of 750 real estate agents and salesmen are licensed to do business in British Columbia, it is disclosed in a roster of registrations published in this week's issue of The British Columbia Gazette. Victoria is served by 152 agents and salesmen, while Vancouver has approximately 500 in its greater area.

The list includes all cities, towns and districts, the smaller places being served by one agent, rising to dozens of firms and scores of agents in the principal cities.

Registration of realtors was completed recently under the Real Estate Agents Licensing Act, brought in at the last session of the Legislature. The act made provision for bonding agents on a slightly different basis, and was the result of representations to the Legislature by real estate men at that time.

POLICE SEEK MISSING MAN

James L. Young, Who Disappeared Following Automobile Mishap, Sought

The disappearance of James L. Young, thirty-three, a war veteran, who has been missing following an automobile accident on Wednesday morning, near Brentwood, is puzzling the Saanich police, who have been asked to locate him. Mr. Young, the police have been advised, was seen at Elk Lake on Thursday night.

Mr. Young had been staying at Brentwood and was on his way to Victoria on Wednesday morning when his car was in collision with one driven by a Chinese. He has been missing since shortly after the accident. His friends are greatly concerned over his disappearance and have sought the aid of the police in trying to find him.

The finding at Beacon Hill of a club bag containing underwear and shaving kit, and letters addressed to James L. Young, have only made the disappearance more mysterious. It is believed the articles found are those of the missing man.

Chief Allan Rankin, of Saanich, who is assisting in the search, was informed that a rowboat was hired at Cadboro Bay yesterday by a man answering the description of the missing man. The boat has not yet been returned.

Mr. Young is described as being about 5 ft. 9 ins. in height, with fair hair and blue eyes. He was wearing a grey suit when last seen.

R.C.M.P. ARREST THIRD JAPANESE

Immigration Department Interpreter Is Taken Into Custody in Connection With Conspiracy

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Fred Yoshi, fifty-six, Japanese interpreter for the Vancouver district of the Immigration Department was arrested by Sgt. L. J. Sampson, of the Royal Canadian Police, Friday night on a charge of fraud; the case concerning, it is said, an alleged conspiracy whereby a large number of Japanese have been able to enter Canada illegally.

First inklings of the alleged conspiracy were divulged through the arrest by city police of two Japanese on a charge of murder which is still before the courts.

While city police refuse to make any comment it is known that the arrested men made statements which alleged they and a high percentage of recent Japanese immigrants entered Canada illegally through the workings of a ring that embraces both Canada and Japan.

Two Japanese were arrested on conspiracy charges last Wednesday in connection with the case.

Horton Bank at Seattle, which was done with instructions to forward the amount to McNeill and Connors. Some delay was occasioned in transferring the amount, and when Duthie and Quicksad arrived at Stewart, B.C., close to the Red Top, McNeill refused to believe that the payment had been made. Duthie wrote a cheque on the back of a telegram form for $10,000. This was also refused, and Mr. Duthie ordered the bank in Seattle to stop payment.

IN SEATTLE COURTS

The case occupied the attention of the Washington courts, where McNeill and Connors sued for the $10,000 paid into the bank by Mr. Duthie. The court and jury in that action ordered the amount paid over to Sharon Quickstad. It was on account of that action that lawyers were brought from Seattle to Victoria to give evidence concerning the Washington State laws. With regard to that phase of the action, Mr. Justice McDonald says in his judgment: "The present action is brought for damages suffered by the plaintiff by reason of the defendant's breach of contract in ousting him from the property, and the main answer is that this claim, if it exists, ought to have been litigated in Seattle in the action above mentioned." Seattle lawyers, at the trial, were at variance concerning the right of third-party intervention.

BASIS OF JUDGMENT

Mr. Justice McDonald's judgment, which covers four and a half pages, says in conclusion: "I have had the greatest difficulty in reaching a conclusion, and I finally base my judgment on this: that the onus is upon the defendants to establish that the claim now in question is res judicata, or in the alternative that the plaintiff is estopped, and, in my opinion, that onus has not been discharged. The evidence as to damages is not definite and in some respects incapable of satisfactory analysis. The fact that the plaintiff expended money belonging to the Barite Mining Company, of which he was the chief owner, does not, I think, affect the case. He is entitled to recover the combined down payments of $2,000. The evidence as to special damages is very indefinite. I think on this heading at least $2,000 has been proven, and I assess his general damages at $6,000, though I know quite well there is no basis on which I can fix them. There will be judgment for the plaintiff for $10,000."

D. S. Tait, of Tait and Marchant, appeared for Baron Quickstad; Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., appeared for John McNeill, and G. B. Duncan for James J. Connors, together with a number of associate counsel.

PENSIONS FUND IS INCREASED

Estimates Are Discussed in House of Commons—Nation Park Conscious

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—A House of Commons, weary from long sitting through several days of torrid temperatures, wound up the week with a discussion of departmental estimates. The Department of the Interior, from the staff of which some hundreds of employees have been released owing to the return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces, focused the attention of the House, in committee of supply, for the greater part of the afternoon and evening.

Shortly before adjournment, the programme shifted to a discussion of pensions problems when Hon. Murray Maclaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, brought in his estimate of $50,500,000 for European war pensions, covering naval, militia and air forces. The amount is $500,000 greater than that appropriated last year. The estimate was still before the committee of supply when the House adjourned at 11 o'clock, but during the hour of discussion Dr. Maclaren stated that pensions legislation introduced last year will probably mean an additional expenditure of $6,500,000 for this purpose.

The people of Canada had become "park-conscious," said Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, in discussing the appropriation of $1,319,200 for the maintenance of Dominion parks in various parts of Canada. Regret at a reduction in this vote from last year of approximately $277,000 was expressed by Mr. Murphy, who said he would be glad to see more money spent for the improvement of national parks.

MINING REGULATIONS

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—An extension of one year from July 1 has been made in the application of Section 52 of the Quartz Mining Regulations as far as they concern the Northwest Territories. The regulations stipulate that "any licensee having duly located and recorded a mineral claim, shall perform or cause to be performed at least forty days' work on such claim within one year immediately following the recording of the claim and not less than forty days' work in each succeeding year."

ENJOYABLE PICNIC HELD

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Victoria West United Church, was held on Dominion Day at Beaver Lake. About 200 scholars, parents and friends participated. A most enjoyable time was spent by all, under ideal weather conditions.

WALKATHONS TO BE REGULATED

Vancouver Council Allows Present Contests to Continue for Limited Time

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Vancouver City Council, by a 7-4 vote, this afternoon decided to allow the two walkathons now operating here to continue for three weeks, but no new licences will be granted to similar contests.

Today's decision was reached after J. B. Williams, city solicitor, warned the aldermen that, in his opinion, the walkathons had established certain "vested rights" through being permitted to carry on up to the present. The city solicitor hinted that the city might possibly face an action for damages in the event that the council now undertook to summarily close the contests.

LAID INFORMATION

An outstanding revelation of the discussion was a declaration by H. Urquhart, city licence inspector, that he had laid an information with the police against the promoters of the contest at the Vancouver Theatre for failure to post the $3,000 bond demanded by the council.

The promoters were given a reasonable time in which to provide the bond and failure to do so will result in the walkathon being closed.

LOCAL MAN WINS ORATORS' TROPHY

Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett Tells of Attractions of Victoria at Spokane Convention

Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, past-president of the Victoria Real Estate Board, won second place in the oratorical contest at the convention of the Pacific Northwest Real Estate Association, held in Spokane early in the week. The subject upon which he spoke was "Victoria." The prize carried off is an attractive cup which will be on display at the next meeting of the local board.

Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett has just returned from the gathering he attended as a delegate of the Victoria board. At the next meeting of the organisation he will address the real estatae men on the highlights of the convention. He will likely deliver the address which he gave in Spokane, and which won the second place prize there.

The contest each year at the annual banquet of the association is always an outstanding feature. The addresses are given, the subject in each case being the home town of the contestant. These talks are limited to five minutes each. Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett miscalculated the length of his address and failed to complete it in the alloted time.

The convention was an excellent one, with an attendance of about 150 delegates ,representing Oregon, Idaho, Washington and British Columbia.

AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN FRANCE AND U.S. ON MAIN POINTS

It was learned that considerable difficulty was experienced in drawing up the official statement and that the American delegates were inclined to prefer the word "secondary" instead of the "points of less importance," which was used to describe the points still unsettled.

AGREEMENT IS INCOMPLETE

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP).—Word from Paris of an accord on major differences in the Franco-American debt holiday negotiations was welcomed at the White House tonight, but it was pointed out full agreement in principle remained to be reached.

No information was forthcoming on how the situation stood exactly. President Hoover continued in direct personal touch with the discussions, however, hearing Secretary Mellon's report by telephone from Paris.

Acting Secretaries Castle, of the State Department, and Mills, of the Treasury, also heard Mellon. Immediately thereafter the President postponed his scheduled departure for the Rapidan Camp in Virginia.

JONES' TAX IS TWICE ADOPTED

B.C. LEAD FOLLOWED

In New Zealand, Mr. Jones has been informed, a special tax of 3d in the pound has been imposed on wages, to which is added a flat tax of $5 per year. A special income tax is also introduced in this connection in the New Zealand Dominion.

In New South Wales the limit of the tax is set at 1s in the pound on wages of $20 weekly, or at the rate of 5 per cent, rising in a graded scale to 25 per cent on higher earnings. While British Columbia is believed to be the first British domain to introduce what, but for small exemptions, is a universal income tax, its policy may be rapidly followed elsewhere.

In all three cases the tax was brought in as a special emergency measure, to cope with unusual conditions brought about by sharply falling revenues.

NEW OFFICERS AT SALVATION ARMY

The meetings at Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, will be led all day tomorrow by Ensign and Mrs. Thierstein, the newly-appointed commanding officers, who have recently been in charge of New Westminster Corps.

Commandant Fullerton has been appointed to take charge of the social work in Victoria, and will arrive in the city about July 23. He is well known here, having been the social officer a few years ago. Commandant Richardson will carry on until his arrival and then transfer to the subscribers' department of Army work at Vancouver.

"MADE IN CANADA"

For many years the Commercial Intelligence Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has been considering ways and means for the better advertisement of "Made in Canada" goods. The idea that the buying public should know, without any inconvenience or delay, what are home-made products would appear to be a necessary concomitant to the campaign which is conducted in the interests of buying the output of our own factories so as to keep money in circulation at home. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has no mandatory power in the matter of insisting that goods made in Canada should have a tradé mark to that effect. It can only utilize moral suasion to attain this end. If, in the interests of home trade, there is to be insistence that the "Made-in-Canada" mark should be utilized on all home products throughout the Dominion that can only be effected by Federal legislation.

This element in the campaign for a better appreciation of Canadian goods received an impetus during the recent convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in this city. It was brought to the fore by the Canadian Products Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, and the chairman of that bureau, Mr. Frank H. Partridge, deserves every credit for his presentation of the case to the convention. During the course of the discussion of a resolution advocating the "Made-in-Canada" mark on goods it was brought to light that such marking is still entirely voluntary. There is no insistence by the Government that Canadian goods be marked. The convention went so far as to pass a resolution urging the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to mark their goods, "so far as may be practical or possible so that purchasers can distinguish Canadian products from the products of other countries."

It may be doubted if that resolution has gone far enough. Action in the matter is to continue to be voluntary, perhaps assisted by greater moral suasion than has been employed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in the past. What has not developed in any discussions we have seen on this important matter is reasons against legislation to enforce the "Made-in-Canada" marking. In other words, why should concentration of effort not be directed towards securing governmental action. Until there is enforcement there are instances where the question of expense may operate against manufacturers utilizing the desired trade mark. That is a difficulty that should be overcome. The point of greatest importance is that the public should labor under no misapprehension in whatever desire can be fostered in favor of the purchase of home-made products.

AN EXAMPLE OF PROTECTION

Protection under the guise of safeguarding duties has been largely beneficial to British industry. It is true that the Labor Government has wiped out some of these duties since it took office, and unemployment has increased in proportion. There is one illustration of the benefits which even the Labor Party seems to regard as too important to suffer interference. That is in the case of the import duties placed on motor cars by the late Conservative Government.

In the first four months of 1929 Great Britain imported 5,359 cars valued at $4,500,000. In the first four months of 1930 she imported 3,449 cars valued at $3,000,000, and in the first four months of the present year her imports were 663 foreign-made cars valued at $800,000. In other words, the British motoring industry has been built up at the expense of imports. The centres of production at Coventry, Oxford and Derby have won their fight. Great Britain always was ahead of the world in the stability and beauty of construction of her high-priced luxury cars. She is now producing cars of all kinds which compare favorably in value with those produced anywhere else. What is happening is an illustration, to even the most dyed-in-the-wool free trader, of how protection can operate to build up domestic products.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

Anyone who knows France must needs recognize that much of her material prosperity is built on a balanced agricultural and industrial activity. Her interior agricultural population forms a market for her manufacturers and industrialists, and vice versa; while in latter days reciprocal tariffs between the Mother Country and her dependencies have also provided an Imperial market second to none.

All our Western Prairie Provinces are devoted to agricultural interests and nothing much is done to stimulate industrial or manufacturing production. These provinces have unlimited supplies of power and cheap food, but throughout wide areas not even a flour mill is to be found, let alone one automobile factory. This state of affairs is the exact antithesis of France, and, accordingly, the meagre populations of these Prairie Provinces are forced to depend on the weather to provide huge quantities of wheat for hypothetical exterior markets.

In British Columbia one finds the same limited outlook to a lesser degree; but how much of our attention is directed solely to denuding our province of its magnificent natural resources, and how much to the encouragement of industrial or manufacturing enterprises which would work up our own raw material and provide employment for our own population?

The production of raw material implied in farming, fishing, lumbering, mining, etc., ought to be compensated by the establishment of industrial or manufacturing plants capable of supplying interior markets. As raw producers most of our necessities of a manufactured nature, from lead pencils to shoe polish, are imported from abroad in exchange for our own raw material. The inhabitant of Belgium consumes our tinned salmon and utilizes our copper in making door-knockers or curios for Canadian travelers, when the copper we produce could just as well be made into telephone wire or doormats in our own country. The resulting exchange between a population of raw producers on the one hand and a population of industrial workers on the other would tend to create interior economic stability and such stability is the first necessity of capital.

Manufacturers at present have generally to install machinery, the cost of which cannot be spread over a term of years as that of the farmer or other more favored producer. They have to invest capital at the outset in overvalued, over-taxed industrial sites; the farmer can almost have his land free. They have to pay higher labor charges than their industry may be able to bear in its embryonic stage, and, on the whole, save for tariff protection, the public encouragement offered through our newspapers, banks and Government is slight, from the expenses of preliminary establishment to the sale of the local finished product. Why not offer the same facilities to manufacturers as is given to farmers, lumbermen, fishermen and miners?

Our economic action is much in line with that of the theories of the eighteenth century physiocrats, and though we are continually reminded of Adam Smith, by people who have never read his "Theory of Moral Sentiments," it would still seem that interior markets are every whit as important as exterior trade.

CONNAUGHT SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Connaught Seamen's Institute appeals once a year, in the form of a tag day, to secure funds for carrying on its work, which is that of looking after the interests of sailors who visit this port. It is a work of kindliness undertaken in a spirit of humanity and it involves self-sacrificing effort. For many years, since officially opened by a former Royal Governor-General, the Connaught Seamen's Institute has filled a niche of service in the community. Its record of achievement is a matter of congratulation to our citizens. Those who know best what it has accomplished are determined that its activities will be perpetuated, and there are sailors from many parts of the world who have cause to bless its name.

Today's appeal should secure a ready response. The lot of a seafaring man is cast in dangerous ways. What the land folk can do in their behalf when they are in port is little enough, but it is a little that counts in the lives of sailors. The Connaught Seamen's Institute is performing a noble task. It should have continued popular support. Today is an occasion of the annual tag day for funds to enable it to carry on. If all the world loves a sailor the Institute should benefit handsomely as a result of its appeal.

What social instability exists in the world today is due to mental conflict, according to Mr. Gerald Heard in his book, "Social Substance of Religion.' In his opinion men can work with any economic system if they have the right psychology. Then he says: "The economic communism has already revealed its psychic unsoundness. It is driven not by love, but by hate, and to attain even an appearance of its ends it has to use ever more force. If the ordinary man does not feel love for his fellows he will never be a Communist. If he does feel that love, then there is no need for a proletarian dictatorship to transform him."

DORSET ORCHARD

Under the grey green apple trees
Beneath a sky splashed blue and white
Liquid emerald lies the light,
Straw shotten hives and many bees
Are wrapt in glimmering tones of jade,
And black hens in the glowing shade
Poke busily red-kerchiefed heads
Among the silken grassy threads
Like scarlet runners in the sun.
The jaunty cock is never done,
His glossy black and fifteenth wife
Demanding higher things of life
Scolds at the silhouetted pig
Astonished when old Snorter digs.

Hens love to gossip in the glade
Beneath the leafy green arcade,
And think it scandal that the cock
Prefers black Jen of all the flock;
He proudly guards and leads them all
And summons with soft clucking call
When he finds a grain of wheat
Like roasted bread, brown, ripe and sweet.

And on the twisted lichen boughs
Above grey leaves the apples drowse
And slowly ripen red and clear
Through the hushed noontide of the year.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

O, how full of briers is this workaday world! —Shakespeare.

Gold! Gold! Gold! Gold!
Bright and yellow, hard and cold
—Hood.

We have been reading something in the papers which reminds us of an old saying that there are two sides to every question and that there are two aspects to even the perplexing and depressing question of business depression. We all associated the business depression with the unemployment of labor. We are all considering what should be done to provide employment for labor. Few of us have associated the depression with the unemployment of capital. But a qualified authority has declared through the papers that the depression is quite as much due to capital lying idle in the banks as to labor loitering on the streets because it can find nothing for its willing hands to do.

That may only be another of many idle theories; but, on the other hand, there may be something in it. And it is quite fascinating to reflect upon the fact that if prosperity is to be restored, remunerative employment must be found for idle capital as well as for idle labor. We know what our radical agitators in Parliament and on the common forum will say about that theory. They will scoff at it and rail in scorn at the capitalistic system. They will demand the confiscation of capital. But if they were permitted to confiscate capital and seize all the gold lying idle in the vaults in Washington and in Paris, they obviously could not restore prosperity by taking the treasure and scattering it about indiscriminately. In order to restore prosperity they would have to find profitable employment for the capital. In itself gold is of no value whatever. Its values are dependent upon what it can do. That probably is why the depression has hit the United States and France just as hard as it has hit other countries which are short of gold as a consequence of the miserly proclivities of the two great republics.

Thus there seems to be some merit in the theory of the authority who says the depression is quite as much due to idle capital as to idle labor. For most of us the new theory is merely a matter of abstract interest, for most of us have little other capital except the capital represented by our labor. But the interesting theory does at least throw a ray of light upon the reasons for the depression and indicate a way in which the depression may be lifted. If idle capital can be set to work, the wheels of business will begin to turn around with much greater velocity and idle labor will be provided with work for its hands to do.

Pertinent to this question, we are told that Mr. George Bernard Shaw, who modestly admits that he is one of the cleverest men of all time, is going to proceed to Russia to look into the situation in that perplexing country. Less clever and competent men that George have gone to Russia for the purpose of looking into the situation there and reporting upon it, but none of them has been capable of going very deeply into the Russian situation. At any rate, none of them has reported quite satisfactorily or illuminatingly upon it. The Irish sage is radical in his political and business views and has no use for capital (although he has accumulated a considerable amount of capital and seems to be finding plenty of personal use for it).

The government of Russia in the beginning had no use for capital either, although it confiscated capital and everything else in the country and declared them common property. But after a short experience in business and industry the Russian government discovered that its economic theories were in conflict with practice. It found out that after all capital fulfilled a certain purpose in the conduct of human affairs. It modified its theories and brought them in harmony with common practice. It found out that capital was necessary because in order to profitably carry on business work must be found for both labor and capital, thus establishing the economic truth of the theory announced by the authority we have quoted. So Russia began to collect the capital it had scattered and even to borrow capital from other countries for the purpose of setting the wheels of industry in motion.

* * *

There was another interesting economic theory which we have not heard much about lately. That theory was that labor creates all wealth, and the moral or truth annexed to it was that if labor had all its rights it would have all the wealth it created. The facts established by recent experience seem to be that wealth is not produced by one factor alone but by two absolutely essential factors in combination, by labor and capital working together, and the more harmoniously they work together the greater the production of wealth and the more abundant the prosperity. There is an abundance of both capital and labor in the United States, but because one is idle and unproductive the other is idle and unproductive. Hence the depression, and the depression is world-wide because the conditions everywhere are similar to the conditions in the United States

CHIEF WHIP FOR DISRAELI DEAD

Sir William Hart Dyke Dies at Age of Ninety-Three—Last of the Mid-Victorians

DARTFORD, Kent, England, July 3 (AP).—Sir William Hart Dyke, a political figure of the golden era of Gladstone and Disraeli, died at his home today. He was ninety-five.

Lady Dyke, who is ill, was not informed of his death. He was a great sportsman, owning an estate of 9,000 acres, and was credited as one of the originators of lawn tennis.

He represented this division in Parliament from 1885 to 1906, but held his first post from West Kent in 1865.

Sir William had been ailing for months with pneumonia. Born in the year of Queen Victoria's coronation, he represented West Kent in Parliament for forty years, during which time he served as Disraeli's chief whip in his bitter struggle with Gladstone.

He was named Chief Secretary for Ireland in 1885 and retired from political life in 1906. He was the last of the great mid-Victorian statesmen.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

MUSIC AND MEMORY

The music weaves its vague enchantment here
Within the dimness of the lofty room,
Till once again I hear the lark's notes, clear
And high across June meadows sweet with bloom.
I see the white clouds drift and on wide slopes
The arabesques of shadow fleetly pass;
With restless fingertips the sunlight gropes
Among the thrusting emerald blades of grass.

Now memory and music intertwine;
Though Summer and the lark fled long ago,
Again loved notes, in these bright dreams of mine,
Go lilting up from flute and piccolo.
How strange, these wandering playera have the key
To rooms I thought belonged alone to me!

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

THE RULE OF EIGHT

A well-bid or played hand has much in common with a keen, subtly conceived mystery story. Each deal is, in a sense, a mystery story and the mystery to solve is that of the best bid or play. Honor and distributional values are our clues, together with partnership inferences.

The element of drama, suspense, struggle is obligingly furnished by our opponents. Alas, the usual series of incomprehensible murders proves to be insoluble until it develops that the true villain is our partner. The underlying process is the same in the technique of a great detective, a scientist or a bridge master—the process of elimination.

What It Will Do

The rule of eight offers an extremely simple but precise and workable basis for applying the process of elimination.

Briefly put, it states that the total of defensive honor tricks in the pack will average to produce at any bid about eight out of the thirteen tricks. Four tricks will be won with Aces and the remaining four with lower honors as valued in the standard table on the defensive basis.

The rule of eight will not work with any other count of honors because it is based on the fact that the average hand, which contains one-fourth of the total share of honors, and which includes even Queens and Knaves is worth two honor tricks plus. In rare cases honors will take nine tricks, and, strictly speaking, the count of defensive honor tricks for the four hands is not eight but between eight and eight and a half. Furthermore, in applying the rule of eight to trump bids one must remember that any honor is apt to be ruffed, and, therefore, while the maximum count of eight and a half is constant, the minimum may go below eight tricks.

The fact that the total bidding value of all defensive honors around the table at any bid and regardless of how they combine is between eight and eight and a half honor tricks is of decisive value in applying the process of elimination during the bidding. Through the simple use of the elimination process, a player is aware at most stages of the bidding of the minimum honor strength (and consequent game or penalty expectancies) held in partnership and opponents' hands.

Practical Use

The total of honor tricks shown by the opponents' bids added to the player's own hand gives a fair measure of the honor strength balance held by partner—an important consideration, especially when partner consistently passes.

The "balance of strength" principle is of immediate practical application at all stages of the bidding. For instance, assuming the first hand opens with one no trump, showing thereby at least two and a half honor tricks; second hand doubles showing about three honor tricks; third hand holds:

♠ A Q 3
♥ J 7 6 4
♦ A 9 3
♣ 8 5 2

worth about two and a half plus honor tricks. With eight honor tricks already accounted for, the fourth hand can have but a King or a Queen-Knave at the most and more likely holds a blank. The proper bid by third hand is "redouble" to flash to his partner that he holds the balance of honor strength and therefore a heavy penalty is in sight.

Exactly the same process of honor strength elimination is used, although in reverse, in slam bidding: Assume the first hand opens with two Spades, which shows five honor tricks and the third hand holds

♠ J 7 4 2
♥ A Q 6
♦ A 8 5 3

worth two and a half plus honor tricks, the combined hands show at least seven and a half honor tricks. This means that a small slam will, as a rule, be made for the balance of strength left to the opponents is but one trick. Incidentally it also means—and that without artificial Ace showing—that combined partnership hands contain at least three Aces.

Thanks to the rule of eight, any player knows at all stages of bidding "his geographical spot" in relation to partner and opponents.

It is a reasonably safe compass even for a beginner by which to steer his craft on the treacherous seas of distribution.

WATERED STOCK

Sir,—Re your editorial "Communistic Propaganda." I do not propoce to defend Dean Quainton's statements. He is well able to take care of himself. I wish to say that one of the hopeful things at the present time is that the clergy are speaking out. The happenings in Russia were due largely to the failure of her churches to speak out according to the tenets they professed as applied to existing conditions, and the muzzling of the press.

If the press and the church will handle things with gloves off, we may avoid the terrible experience Russia has had. Take, for instance, the Canadian Press dispatch from Ottawa of June 26 dealing with the Beauharnois inquiry. This showed that the Dominion Securities Corporation and Newman, Sweezy & Co. sold $30,000,000 in bonds of the Beauharnois Power Company at par, retaining $3,000,000 of this and receiving 750,000 common shares. Of these 150,000 shares are given to the purchasers of the bonds, but not released until next year. The purchasers of the bonds are given the privilege of buying the remaining 600,000 shares at $35 a share up to 1937; this privilege, if exercised—and it is held out as an inducement to buy the bonds—will net the financiers another $21,000,000, making for them a commission in all of $24,000,000 for raising $27,000,000 for the power company.

This has doubtless been done within the law, and probably these firms will be whitewashed by the committee of inquiry, but to condone a system which has brought suffering and countless other wrongs in its train is tantamount to shaking hands with the forces of evil. I would like to urge The Colonist to use its influence to rouse the people to the danger, for if this system is not changed, worse will come.

Here is a public franchise obtained, and right at the start the financiers fix things so that for all time the poor man, when he goes to pay his light bill, will pay once for his light and a second time as tribute to the vultures pecking at the vitals of this country.

If the press will not speak out, let us hope the church will, even if we have to overlook a few slips.

E. R. BINGHAM.

A POLITICAL ARMISTICE

Sir,—The educational effort of Mr. Yearwood and the ringing battle cry of the leader of the government reform movement on Monday evening aroused deeper thought of the present emergency, its dire necessities and of a more practical and peaceful means by which to consummate better governing conditions in Canada.

I am in full sympathy with the effort to replace the played-out system of party machine government with an economic business administration, but Mr. Sheppard's "war-to-the-death" attitude against all parties and politicians, however justifiable, will not convert Conservatives, Liberals, Socialists, Laborites, Communists, etc., to his reformation. If these, constituting the great majority of the electorate, cannot be converted, there is little hope of such reform in the near future, if ever.

R.B.D., than whom no one has had a longer or more general experience of politics, has reached the conclusion that the people of Canada will not tolerate a continuation of past and present political conditions. In our efforts at reform there are certain fundamentals we cannot afford to lose sight of. The grafting party politician may fully deserve Mr. Sheppard's condemnation, and history emphasizes this, but it is wide open opportunity that has bred pilfering and squandering of public money and resources. Can the best of us say how we would have faced temptation had the opportunity been ours instead of theirs?

Mr. Sheppard ended his war-like effort by declaring the reform movement was based on Christianity. The basis of Christianity is that the vilest sinner may repent and lead a new life, even a party politician.

Our emergency cannot await for its solution the elimination of party politicians by the slow process either of moral suasion or "killing" by a minority reform movement, however sincere and determined it and its leaders may be.

The "opportunities" for malfeasance will pass with the passing of the present governments. No time so favorable to the conversion of the political sinner as "the morning after."

All great emergencies tend to coalition, emphasizing the absolute folly of factional conflict or effort in peace or war. A divided people cannot attain to stable economic government or peaceful prosperity. Coalition is again to the fore at Ottawa as during the war, but temporary coalition of two party machines did not prove an unmixed blessing then and will not now suffice. Canada must have a complete and lasting coalition of all its forces, of the whole people.

To accomplish this calls for a "political armistice," a thoroughly organized coalition movement of all parties and interests, a series of local conventions by which to reach a common bond of understanding of Canada's needs and how best to attain them. A final general convention representative of all locals to determine upon the best system of business administration.

Put this into effect for a test armistice period of say ten years, at the end of which the people can judge if best to continue, or return to the old conditions.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any time, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Swarhess drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of July 8, 1881)

Mayor Returns—Mayor Turner returned from an extended trip through Canada and the Eastern States yesterday. He gives a glowing report of the flourishing condition of business there. Money is very plentiful and cheap. Having interviewed the Canadian Government and the syndicate, he is of the opinion that the Island railway will be undertaken at an early date. An engineer is expected to arrive shortly to examine the coal belt.

Election of Officers—At the annual meeting of the Tiger Fire Company, held last night at the engine-house, Pandora Avenue, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, the following were chosen: Charles Cowen, president (re-elected); M. McDowell, foreman; David Fee, Jr., first assistant; C. McTeigh, second assistant; A. Cameron, treasurer, and L. G. McQuade, secretary (re-elected).

Presentation—The young ladies of the senior class at the local High School waited on the principal, Mr. McLaughlin, on Monday and presented him with a costly cabinet album, accompanying it with an address expressive of their esteem and appreciation.

Leave for Olympia—More than 200 Victorians left last night for Olympia to attend the July 4 celebrations there. Flags on the steamer Princess Louise were half-mast in honor of the late President Garfield, who was murdered at Baltimore a few days ago.

WILL PRESENT PASSION PLAY

Noted Cast of German Players to Give Story of Jesus at Willows Building

From Freiburg, Germany, located in the Black Forest of the state of Baden, comes the Freiburg Passion Play, with a tradition of 700 years of presentations behind it. With the German characters from Freiburg as principals, and with a supporting cast of local people, including chorus and orchestra, it will be presented at the new Horse Show Building, Willows, on July 22, 23, 24 and 25.

Presented for so many centuries in Germany, the play has accumulated many traditions. Its principal actors inherit their parts from generation to generation. Adolf Fassnacht, who portrays the "Christus," is the seventh of his line, the eighth Fassnacht to portray the role since the year 1760, when his family was assigned to it. Others in the cast have inherited the roles for four and five generations. Elsa Fassnacht plays the part of Mary, the Mother. Amalie Fassnacht plays the part of Mary Magdalene.

GRAND SPECTACLE

Gorgeously and authentically costumed with authentic costumes of ancient Jerusalem, the Passion Play, besides its great religious significance, becomes a spectacle and pageant of magnificance of gripping power, of tragedy and triumph.

Its appearance in Victoria is sponsored by the Victoria City Temple and endorsed by many leading citizens. Religious and educational leaders have expressed their satisfaction that the play is coming to this territory.

ON FIRST TOUR

After twenty years of playing in the principal cities of Europe, it is now on its first tour of the North American continent. Mr. Fassnacht arranged for it to come to this country in response to a tremendous demand from the people of North America, of whom 61,000 witnessed the last presentation in Freiburg in 1922.

The Freiburg Passion Play is a work of the most exquisite art presented by actors who are trained to their parts from childhood. Its artistic presentation of the story of Jesus makes it a production that has a peculiar appeal to all ages, conditions and peoples.

CENTRAL BAPTIST PICNIC

SUMMER CAMP IS UNDER WAY

Y.M.C.A. Boys Commence Annual Outing at Milne's Landing, Sooke

The annual Summer camp of the Y.M.C.A. is now in full swing at Milne's Landing, Sooke, with Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary, in charge. It is expected that about thirty boys will visit the camp during the two weeks which it will remain open.

Every minute of the day is taken up by a properly prepared programme, which includes games, swimming, athletic contests and many other items of interest to the boys. In every instance the play periods, and in fact all the items of the camp schedule are under the personal supervision of Mr. Shoemaker and his corps of senior members.

Conducted primarily to develop all-round Christian character, the programme of camp life is planned with this objective. Such a camp as is organised by the Y.M.C.A., offers an opportunity to satisfy those natural desires for an outing that is diffrent, with the result that the boys on their return to the city have fond memories of a vacation well spent.

For the past eighteen years the Victoria Y.M.C.A. has been conducting this annual camp. It is only one of the many items on their extensive programme to develop good citizens.

Boys ranging from twelve to seventeen years annually attend the camp, which is not confined to associate members of the Y.M.C.A. Visitors are particularly welcome on Saturday afternoons, when tea will be served.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND LAUNCHED

Voluntary Subscriptions From Six Citizens Reach Grand Total of $28,500

Contributions totaling $28,500 were placed in the hands of the Victoria Citizens' Unemployed Relief Fund, which was officially launched at a meeting of the organization committee held yesterday morning, and presided over by Sir Frank Barnard.

The amount already in hand was received from six individuals, and will form the nucleus of the fund for which voluntary subscriptions will be asked. The following contributions were announced following the meeting yesterday:

J. A. Sayward, $5,000.
Sir Frank Barnard, $5,000.
R. P. Butchart, $5,000.
J. W. Benning, Jr., $5,000.
C. F. Todd and family, $6,000.
Captain W. H. Molson, $2,500.

The fund was originated with the idea of augmenting relief measures to be undertaken by the Federal and Provincial Governments to aid the unemployed citizens of the City of Victoria. The organization of the committee was a public spirited move on the part of leading citizens wholeheartedly supported by Mayor Herbert Anscomb.

COMMITTEES NAMED

The organization now consists of a finance committee, composed of G. H. Stevens, P. B. Fowler and E. W. McMullen, bank managers; a publicity committee consisting of Sir Frank Barnard, J. S. H. Matson, B. C. Nicholas and Mayor Anscomb, and a distribution committee comprising Sir Frank Barnard, R. H. Swinerton, F. Nation, Fred Landsberg and E. G. Snowden.

In announcing the completion of the organization of the fund and the contributions so far received, Mayor Anscomb said: "It is indeed pleasing to note the ready response to appeals made for assistance towards the relief of the unemployed in our city." Unemployment, he said, had reached a stage where every effort was needed to relieve the conditions of the many families who are at present suffering privations through the inability of the breadwinner to secure employment.

His Worship expressed his belief and hope that the citizens generally would co-operate with the committee and aid in the relief which was of the utmost necessity.

TO BE INDUCTED NEXT THURSDAY

Rev. E. F. Church will be formally inducted into charge of the Metropolitan Church by the Presbytery of Victoria on Thursday, July 9.

Mr. Church has been pastor of Zion United Church, Moose Jaw, for the past five years. He will preach his initial sermon on Sunday, July 12. His assistant is Rev. J. H. A. Warn.

That Body of Yours

EATING LIVER TO PREVENT BLEEDING

Perhaps you have wondered what was wrong with some friend or acquaintance because he is what is called a "bleeder," one who bleeds easily, and in whom it is difficult to stop bleeding once it starts.

This condition is known as haemophilia and occurs only in males, but transmitted by the female; that is, the daughter of a man afflicted with haemophilia will hand it down to her son but not to her daughter, and that the daughter of this son will hand it down to her son, and so forth.

The bleeding may occur of its own accord, but usually follows some injury which, in a normal individual, would not cause bleeding. And because it is slow in clotting, the bleeding often continues so long that blood from other individuals must be injected into the patient to save his life. It would appear that one of the substances in the blood that causes it to clot is defective, thus delaying clotting time, so that it takes hours instead of minutes.

Now, just what it is that is defective or deficient in this substance that clots the blood is not known, but it would appear that our research men are on their way to finding out. Dr. J. W. Pickering, of Great Britain, has found that liver, or liver extract, will shorten the clotting time of the blood in these cases by 50 per cent. This reduction does not occur till twelve hours after the liver or the liver extract has been taken.

The fact that the clotting does not take place immediately or shortly after the liver is taken, but only after twelve hours, would show that it is not the effect of the liver acting on the blood directly to make it clot, but that the liver acts on tissues which improve the substance that helps clot the blood, or that these tissues make more of the substance from the liver or liver extract.

Further, when the liver or liver extract is discontinued in these cases, the blood again becomes very slow in clotting.

The big point, then, is that in these bleeders, or haemophiliacs as they are called, there is likely something deficient about the liver when simply eating liver will help to correct the condition.

As the condition is hereditary, and at present not curable, it is gratifying to know that it can be helped to such a great extent by eating liver daily. This may make blood transfusions now unnecessary in many cases.

What Today Means

CANCER

If July 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 8:15 p.m. to 10:10 p.m. The danger hours are from 11:10 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. and from 5:30 p.m. to 7:45 p.m.

Many complications are foretold for July 4, and the planetary aspects denote unexpected domestic troubles. Women are under better influences than men, and are promised a happy realization of some of their hopes and desires. In the evening the conditions will improve and favor all social or recreational activities.

Children born on this July 4 will develop into stubborn characters. They, once an opinion has been formed by them, will never change. Hence, no very great success on their part can be anticipated. Their natures will be affectionate, but not at all demonstrative.

Born on July 4, you are very versatile and quick-witted. Your intellect is a nimble one, and you can change your views or your plans to fit in with any opportunity or demand. You are not very sincere, although you impress new acquaintances with an exalted sense of loyalty. The impression thus created does not, however, "stay put."

Your horoscope indicates that many good chances will come your way. Some of them you will take, but you will not be sufficiently persistent to make good on many. Your moods are as changeable as the Atlantic Ocean. At times, you are charming, entertaining and interesting, but at other times you are indifferent, dull and boring.

You only seek the companionship of those who are in as good or better circumstances as your own. You seek, rather than give, help. Your life is guided very much by convention and usage. You rarely care to be your natural self, and lack all spontaneity. It cannot be said that you are a shirker, as you work well and intelligently, but not consistently.

Your affections are strong, but not lasting. You are more a victim of violent infatuations than the beneficiary of a deep love. You should not marry until you know you can "settle down" permanently.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, July 3 (CP).—The yacht Melodie, of Los Angeles, arrived here late Thursday from Bellingham, with Don Lee and a party of Los Angeles people on board. The vessel is a beautiful little craft, with clipper bows and raking masts, shining and sparkling in brass and white and mahogany. Mr. Lee will procede up coast.

Empire Shipping Company reports Ss. Duchessa D'Oasta due Saturday from Mediterranean ports.

Commander A. H. Reed, R.N.R., Vancouver harbor master, has returned to his office at the Harbor Board headquarters thoroughly restored to health after one month's holiday. In the latter part of May, Commander Reed suffered a nervous breakdown, which necessitated his taking a prolonged vacation.

The banana movement from Central America to this port continues on the ships of the Danish East Asiatic Company, according to Walter Walton, of the firm of B. L. Johnson, Walton Co., agents for the service.

All the refrigerator ships of the company on recent arrivals here have landed large consignments of bananas, and Ms. Amerika, due Saturday, also will land a large parcel. She has 1,200 stems for this port. The company's Ms. Australian is also due on Saturday, but will have no bananas, because she has no refrigerator space.

The movement of bananas to Vancouver is not through the United States Fruit Co. channels, it is said, but is from a group of independent shippers with headquarters in San Francisco. The fruit is meeting a good reception on the market here.

Church Personals

Rev. Theo. A. Jansen, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, was appointed statistical secretary of the Pacific Synod of the United Lutheran Church at its recent meeting in Seattle.

Rev. Daniel Walker, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance on Yates Street, is attending, along with Mrs. Walker, the Alliance conference that is being held at Canby, Ore., which continues into next week.

On the programme of the Pacific Theological Conference, which meets for a three days' session in the First Methodist Church, Seattle, beginning Tuesday, Dean Quainton will give a paper on "Christian Mysticism" on Wednesday morning. Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson, of Vancouver, will speak on Wednesday evening on "Spiritual Regeneration and the World Order." Other participants from British Columbia are Professor R. B. Y. Scott, until recently of Union College, Vancouver; Principal C. G. McKenzie, of Columbian College, New Westminster; Rev. R. E. Cribb, of Creston; and Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, Dr. H. L. MacNeill and Professor F. H. Soward, of Vancouver.

Rev. Thomas Keyworth, of Sidney United Church, will exchange pulpits on July 19 and 26 with Rev. W. J. Haggitt, of Highland United Church, Edmonton.

Captain Frank Hawks in Rapid Flight From Quebec to Montreal

MONTREAL, July 3 (CP).—Roaring through rain storms and low clouds at an average speed of 180 miles per hour, Captain Frank Hawks, United States speed flyer, today shortened the time between Quebec and Montreal to a scant fifty minutes.

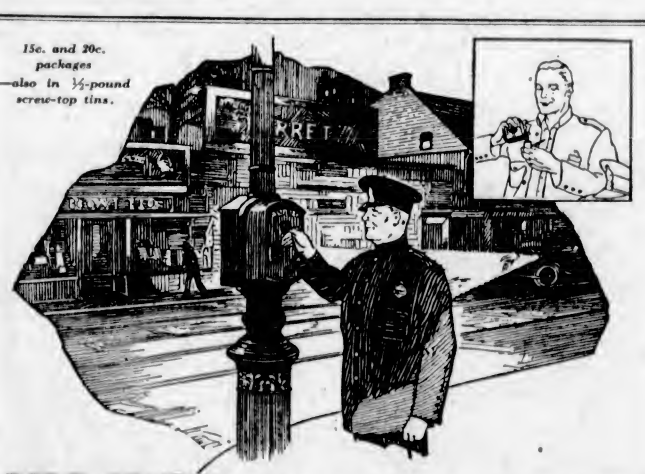

Captain Hawks took off from Quebec City at 9:25 o'clock E.D.S.T., this morning and set his fast little Travelair ship down on St. Hubert airport at 10:15 o'clock. The distance is about 150 miles by air.

Hawks will fly from Montreal to Toronto, from Toronto to Ottawa, and then back to Montreal this evening. Captain Hawks broke all existing records for the flight between Quebec and Montreal. Canadian Airways mail planes usually take slightly over an hour for the flight.

MIGHT CIRCLE GLOBE IN EIGHT YEARS IF ALL ON THE LEVEL

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

ROME, July 3.—Hot on the heels of the news that Wiley Post and Harold Gatty circled the globe in a little more than eight days comes an announcement from Tnormina that two youths of that famous village will also attempt to do the grand circuit shortly—in a brightly-painted Sicilian oxcart.

This journey will not be a speedy one, a local mathematician who has observed the pace of Sicilian oxen estimating that it will take eight years unless there is some cheating.

SONS DEFEAT EAGLES, 5-2

Canadians Down Feathered Tribe to Strengthen Second Position

RAY PARFITT DRIVEN FROM MOUND IN 2ND

Driving across two runs in the fourth inning on two errors, a single and a sacrifice hit, and another in the sixth on an error and a single, Sons of Canada strengthened their hold on second place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League by downing the Eagles last night at the Royal Athletic Park, by a 5-2 score. The feathered tribe played better ball than usual and had the Canadians on the go in the early stages.

The veteran Ray Parfitt started on the mound for the Sons, but was waved to the dugout in the second inning, when the Eagles got to him for two runs. Craig was responsible for both tallies, when he fumbled drives by Brousseau and Bridgewood. Settling down in the fourth canto, the Sons took the lead and stayed out in front until the finish.

Cann replaced Parfitt and coasted along at a steady pace to receive credit for the victory. Although the Eagles garnered six hits off Cann's offerings, the most of them were kept well scattered. Bill Holness went the route for the Eagles and pitched a pretty fair brand of ball.

Announcements

The great distinction between electrical treatment and all other methods to remove superfluous hair is that it absolutely, surely and permanently distroys the hair instead of merely temporarily removing it from the surface, and the pain is just the ordinary stinging sensation peculiar to all electrical treatments—so there is absolutely nothing whatever to be afraid of. P. Burden, British Columbia Agent-General at London, to see what prospects exist on the British market for the fruit. Canes that are now producing the surplus crop of loganberries, were planted three years ago, it was stated, when prospects of a rapidly expanding market were believed to be well in sight.

Many Inquiries—The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has had a busy season answering many inquiries this year, following the publicity campaign which was inaugurated by the Puget Sounders and and British Columbians' Association, in addition to the direct publicity which the bureau inaugurated itself. The record of 10,000 replies to inquiries has been reached by the local bureau. This represents a reply going out every two minutes over the whole time. All inquiries receive information relating to the city and the Island.

Receiver Penalized—In spite of the publicity given to the coming into effect of the new postal rates on Wednesday, July 1, there are numbers of letters being dropped at the postoffice and collected from the street boxes with stamps of the old denomination and rate. These are being forwarded to their destinations, Postmaster G. H. Gardiner stated yesterday, with the customary penalty added, so that the receiver of mail without the legal postage now in effect attached has to pay double. Mr. Gardiner also pointed out that letters going via air mail are also subject to the additional cent rate, the same as ordinary mail.

O. Wheeler, who is spending the Summer at Banff. Noble, A. Guile, G. McMuldroch and W. M. Wells, waited on the Saanich Council this week. Reeve Crouch told the delegation that the council would go fully into the matter and give it immediate attention. Dr. D. Berman and the sanitary inspector will be asked to investigate and bring in a report.

Message From Ucluelet—Among the "old boys" of Craigflower School who sent greetings on the occasion of the celebration held a few days ago in connection with the opening of the old building as a museum, was Mr. Hillier, of Ucluelet, who particularly wished to be remembered to his old schoolmaster, Mr. J. C. Newbury. Mr. Hillier and his brother are now in the Government telegraph service at the West Coast station. Mr. Newbury, who taught at Craigflower School from 1878-1883, found ten of his old pupils in the gathering on Saturday last.

Canadians Celebrate — Canadians residing or visiting in Los Angeles on July 1, celebrated in that city the sixty-fourth anniversary of the Federation of the Dominion. A reunion and dance was held in the Chateau Auditorium, under the auspices of the Canadian Society of Southern California, and many prominent Canadians were guests of honor. The Dominion's nine provinces were staged in miniature to facilitate the meeting of "folks from the old home town," and patriotic songs of Canada were sung to music supplied by a Canadian band.

Wheeler, of Sidney, Vancouver Island, who are spending the Summer at Banff, on Dominion Day climbed to the top of Sulphur Mountain to attend an at home held by N. B. Although it is by no means an insignificant ascent, the summit of Sulphur Mountain is annually climbed by hundreds of visitors. Mr. Wheeler, although a resident of Sidney during the greater part of the year, is one of the best-known figures in the Rockies, being the founder and for many years director of the Alpine Club of Canada, of which he is now honorary president.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

The Victoria sittings of the Appeal Court of British Columbia, which commenced on June 2, were concluded yesterday. During the Summer term the court heard appeals in thirty-one cases. Appeals were allowed in seven and dismissed in seven. In seventeen of the cases the court reserved judgment.

The final cases disposed of yesterday were;

Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, trustee in bankruptcy of Somerville Cannery Company, Limited (R.) vs. Johnston et al (A.)—In this action, appellants claimed that they were protected from suit under the provisions of Section 9 of the Magistrates Act. Damages were claimed against them by reason of their interference in respondent's canning operations. It was alleged that they had ordered respondent's operators to discontinue their operations under certain sections of the Fisheries Act which had been declared ultra vires. The trial judge held that appellants were not entitled to any such protection, as they were not officers within the meaning of the statute.

The Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal.

W. E. Burns, K.C., for appellants; W. E. Williams, K.C., for respondent.

Morley (A.) vs. Sullivan (R.)—Appellant had been convicted of shooting a pheasant on an Indian Reserve out of season, contrary to the Provincial Game Act. It was argued that the Provincial act was not applicable to the offence committed on an Indian Reserve, since the Dominion Government is vested with the care of the Indians and the management of the lands on the reserve.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

W. E. Burns, K.C., for the appellant; F. D. Pratt, for respondent.

GIBRALTAR, July 3 (AP).—Convicted of the slaying of an elderly woman, Ernest Opisso, whose impending execution led to a riot last night, was hanged today. They were dispersed by police, who wounded several persons.

Notable Athletic Feats And Fine Lacrosse Game At Port Alberni, July 1

PORT ALBERNI, July 3. — The second annual Dominion Day celebration, under the auspices of the Native Sons of Canada, was a signal success. Led by a special band, the parade started from the postoffice at 10 a.m. and marched along Third Avenue, Argyle Street, Kingsway, First Avenue and back by Argyle Street to Recreation Park where the day's sports were held.

In the children's sports some remarkable performances were witnessed. Harold Little, of Clayoquot, an Indian, won the broad jump with a record of 19 feet 10 inches, while J. MacKay took second place with 19 feet 1 inch.

OTHER FINE PERFORMANCES

Another most creditable contestant during the day was a young girl, Erica Mousley, who won all the girls' races and assisted in the winning of the mixed relay. She won all her events last year also and is splendid material for championship events in any part of the country.

Art Nelson, of Camp No. 4, had not jumped since Labor Day of last year (living out in a lumber camp), and is only seventeen years old, but won the open broad jump today with 19 feet 11 inches to his credit.

LACROSSE

A particularly interesting event was the lacrosse game between Port Alberni Giants and Kildonan Whales. It was a well matched and well fought game. The men in green, Kildonan, whose chief exercise is walking upon the waters in seine boats showed that they could also walk upon the land. They held down the Giants to 2 to 1, and it was one of the best and most agreeable exhibitions of the noble Canadian game that has ever been witnessed in this district.

Last year both contestants put on on Dominion Day, the first game of lacrosse ever played on the West Coast, and no one denies that that was a hard fought game.

Last year some of the boys showed the affects of rough play, but the game this year was clean and very much worth while to the spectators. Lacrosse, after all is the native game of this country, and it is sincerely hoped that a successful effort will be made by the West Coast to keep this good old sport alive. The teams were:

Alberni—Murray, Weaver, McLean, Patton, McCarty, Flanagan, Gillis, Bissell, Roseborough, Croil and McIntosh.

Kildonan—D. Wilson, C. Gibson, E. Gibson, McPherech, G. Wilkes, R. Kidd, N. Garrard, Flanigan, B. Richardson, Art McBride, L. Smith, J. Smith and Hamilton.

Obituary

The death occurred at the King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, on July 1, after an illness of one week, of Mrs. Amelia Paull, wife of T. J. Paull, of Gibbins Road, in her sixty-ninth year. The deceased was born in England, and came to Canada twenty-six years ago, and has resided here for the past twenty-five years. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon from the Whidden Funeral Chapel, Duncan, to Mountain View Cemetery, Somenos, where interment will be made. Rev. R. M. Rollo will conduct the burial service.

Visitors Break Record

On July 1 a record number of visitors thronged the Summer resorts and favorite camping spots.

Under the supervision of the Y.M.C.A. twenty-five boys have pitched their tents for a two weeks' outing at Maple Lawn Camp.

Farm Products Market Letter

The market news letter issued by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, under date of July 3, says:

Victoria—Some fine Okanagan cherries are now on the market, while the local cherries offererd are badly split. Mainland potatoes are being offered here cheaper than the local product. Next week should find cooking apples on the market. The Yellow Transparent variety is sizing up very rapidly. There is a temporary scarcity of cabbage and green peas, but a plentiful supply of cauliflower.

Vancouver — The weather has cleared up and the movement of fruit and produce has improved accordingly. There are quite a few strawberries on the market although the peak is over, but the demand is very light. Raspberries and loganberries are now in fair supply and the market is holding at $2 per crate. Bing and Royal Anne cherries from the Okanagan are now on the market to the exclusion of the Wenatchee product. The Bings wholesale at 17c per lb. and the Royal Annes go at 10c. Yellow Transparent apples are now on the market from Wenatchee and local sources. The price varies according to size. The tomato deal is unchanged. New potatoes are now offered heavily and the price is down to $1.50 and $1.75 per sack.

Calgary—Arrivals today from the West, 104 crates of strawberries, 232 crates of raspberries and 30 crates of logans. Also 44 crates of strawberries from Creston and Wynndel. Today's arrivals are in fair condition. Adjustments were necessary in some cases on yesterday's arrivals. Broker's price to jobber still $3.35 on raspa and straws and $1.75 on logans. BISHOP VISITS COAST MISSION

Church at Ucluelet Dedicated—Vicar Inducted at St. Columba's

TOFINO, July 3.—The Bishop of Columbia, Right Rev. Charles Schofield, completed his tour of the Island with a visit to the West Coast Mission. Beginning at Bamfield he held a confirmation in the Community Hall on Friday, June 19. By courtesy of the Marine Department he was conveyed by the Bamfield lifeboat to Ucluelet, where he spent Sunday. At the evening service he dedicated the local church there, which had been acquired while Rev. Mr. Walter was in cargo of the Mission. Proceeding by the Princess Maquinna, Bishop Schofield reached Tofino in time to keep the feast of St. John the Baptist at St. Columba's Church the headquarters of the Mission. The Bishop formally instituted Rev. J. W. Leighton to the charge of the West Coast Mission, this ceremony having been delayed by the Bishop's absence in England attending the Lambeth Conference when Mr Leighton entered upon his duties a year ago. The following morning the Bishop celebrated Holy Communion and in the afternoon spoke to a large congregation of children.

The Bishop occupied his time very fully in visiting the homes in the communities, being accompanied throughout his tour by the vicar of the parish, Rev. J. W. Leighton. He returned via Port Alberni, traveling on the motor vessel Yankee Boy, which happened at the time to be returning from the census-taking trip up the West Coast.

The church at Ucluelet is dedicated in honor of Saint Aidan, a disciple and fellow worker of St. Columba, in whose honor the church at Tofino is named.

Ol' Mistah Buzzard Saves Flip

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Unknowingly, without intent,
Is aid to others often lent.
—Old Mother Nature.

Sailing round and round high in the air was Ol' Mistah Buzzard. He has wonderful eyes, has Ol' Mistah Buzzard, and from way up there he could see far over the desert in all directions. He was looking for something to eat and he has to have wonderful sight in order to find enough to eat. You see, Ol' Mistah Buzzard does not kill, as do the members of the Hawk family. None of the little people has cause to fear Ol' Mistah Buzzard. He depends on finding the bodies of those who have been killed by others and left, or who have been killed by accident, or have died from some other cause. So he is always looking and looking from high in the air.

His one thought was that here would be a good dinner for him soon

Sometimes he sees those who have been hurt in some way, or who have been attacked by those who kill for food and have escaped, or who are sick, and he knows that they cannot live long. Then he keeps watch and sometimes comes down and waits until the unfortunate one goes into the long sleep that knows no waking. He must have meat and he has no other way of getting it. He thinks this is a far better way than killing, and I am inclined to think so, too. Thus his neighbors do not fear him.

So it happened that as he sailed down, he saw poor Flip, the lost little Terrier, and knew by the way he crawled over the hot sand that he could not live long. For a time he circled high above Flip. Then on his broad wings he sailed down and alighted not far from Flip to wait for the end. He hadn't the least idea of saving Flip's life. He wouldn't have known how to go about it if he had wanted to. His one thought was that here would be a good dinner for him soon.

Now, Farmer Brown's Boy, riding over the desert for Flip, had seen ol' Mistah Buzzard sailing round and round high in the sky, and, knowing ol' Mistah Buzzard's ways, had kept watch of him. When he had seen Ol' Mistah Buzzard sail down he had turned his horse in that direction.

"That fellow has seen something that he thinks will make him a dinner," said he. "If anything has happened to poor little Flip no one would know it sooner than Ol' Mistah Buzzard. He would be almost certain to find him. I'll just go over there and see what it is that he is so interested in."

So he put his horse to a gallop and presently he could see Ol' Mistah Buzzard on the ground just waiting and looking intently at something behind a cactus plant. Not until he was very near did Ol' Mistah Buzzard spread his broad wings and slowly flap up into the air with a most disgusted and disappointed look.

But Farmer Brown's Boy had no eyes for Ol' Mistah Buzzard. He had caught sight of something white behind that cactus plant and a moment later he was off his horse and had Flip in his arms. Flip tried hard to wag his stump of a tail, but he was too exhausted to do even that. But in his soft pleading eyes his master saw the recognition that he could express in no other way and the sudden light of hope.

Farmer Brown's Boy hastily reached for that canteen of precious water. A few drops at a time he poured on that poor, swollen little tongue. He gently bathed Flip's head, and all the time he talked to him. He knew that it wouldn't do to give him a lot of water at once. So he gave him only a few drops at a time. Then he gathered him in his arms, mounted his horse and galloped back to the ranch, where the folks knew just what to do. Fortunately it wasn't far and Flip was soon made comfortable and gradually given the water he so longed for.

Later in the day Farmer Brown's Boy caught sight of a speck sailing round and round high in the sky. "Good Ol' Mistah Buzzard!" he exclaimed. "You don't know it, but you saved Flip's life. A little more and it would have been too late. I hope you found a dinner somewhere else."

Ol' Mistah Buzzard did. And so all were happy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hazelwood have returned to Victoria after ten months' absence in Europe, during which they visited France, the Riviera, Spain and England. They spent the Winter at a resort in the Pyrenees, and in March started a motor tour through Spain, being at Alicante on the day the Republic was declared. Here they saw some of the public demonstrations and groups of students tearing down crowns, flags and other signs of the old regime. Apart from the greater obviousness of the police and the signs of local excitement among the crowds, they found thereafter very little evidence of the changed order, although they visited Madrid, Seville (where they saw the picturesque and interesting Holy Week ceremonials and processions), Granada, Barcelona, and other big cities.

Marriage Solemnized at St. Mary's

St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, was artistically decorated last night for the wedding of Mary Jane Doris, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dane, Cranmore Road, and John Edward, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sinclair, of West Fort William, Ont. Rev. Canon A. E. deL. Nunns performed the ceremony in the presence of a large congregation, and during the signing of the register Mr. Robert Morrison sang "O Promise Me."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a frock of powder blue georgette with a tight-fitting bodice and long flared skirt. It had a frilled bertha collar and a swathed sash of midnight blue velvet, her picture hat of mohair being of the same deep blue. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and cream sweet peas.

THE BRIDESMAID

Miss Eleanor Luney was the only bridesmaid. She wore a pretty frock of canary silk net over satin. It had a close-fitting bodice and long flared skirt. She wore a beige mohair hat and beige shoes, and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli and blue lace flowers.

Mr. Edward Thomas, of Vancouver, attended the groom and the ushers were Messrs. Arthur and Jack Bellis.

RECEPTION HELD

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom stood beneath a floral arch and bell to receive the felicitations of their friends. The supper table was set with a large lace scarf and soft folds of tulle, the three-tier wedding cake being placed in the centre and vases of tiny Bebe roses at each corner. The floral decorations in the church and house were carried out in pale pink and blue.

After a wedding trip in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair will return to Victoria to live. For travelling the bride chose a smart tailleur of powder blue with hat and other accessories to match.

Popular Soprano Heard in Groups During Tea Hour

For many years a resident here and one of Victoria's most beloved singers, Mme. Winifred Lugrin Fahey, dramatic soprano, who is here from Toronto visiting relatives was given a flattering reception when she sang to an audience of nearly 225 afternoon tea guests at the Empress Hotel.

The unimpaired beauty of her lovely voice was heard to great advantage in a popular programme of three groups, which included the following numbers: "Oeuvres tes Yeaux Bleux" (with violin obbligato), "Mandolin" (Debussy); "Il Bacio," "Sylvia" (Oley Speaks); "The Nightingale," "Down Vauxhall Way," "Kerry Dance," her own charming little "Mother's Lullaby," the joyous "Birthday Song," "My Heart Is a Lute," Frank LaForge's invigorating "Song of the Open," and "Land of Hope and Glory," which Mme. Fahey herself did much to familiarize and popularize here by her splendidly dramatic interpretations in times gone by. She was enthusiastically recalled for encores after each of her groups, the accompaniments for which were cleverly played by Mr. Moore at the piano, W. Tickle providing the sympathetically played obbligatos.

Among those noticed at the tea were Mrs. Thornton Fell, Mrs. H. B. Turpin, Mrs. J. C. F. Hyndman, Mrs. De Bretigny, Mrs. Charles Parker, Mrs. Peter MacNaughton, Mrs. H. A. Chisholm, Mrs. Ashdown, Miss Ashdown, Mrs. Colin McClennan, New York City; Mrs. J. B. Mercer, Miss Dillon (Kamloops), Mr. and Mrs. Storer Brown, Miss Woodward, Mrs. E. Dean Quainton united in marriage Mrs. Phyllis May Goddard, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lee Innes, of Duchess Street, and Thomas Petts Penfield, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Penfield, of Palo Alto, California.

The bride, who was attended by her sister, Mrs. John Diment, wore an afternoon frock and hat in soft tones of grey and French blue. The groom was supported by Mr. Harry Curry.

Mr. and Mrs. Penfield left for an automobile trip Up-Island immediately following the ceremony and will motor back to Palo Alto, where Mr. Penfield is instructing in aeronautics at the aviation school on the campus of Stanford Univerality.

The bride, who is a licenced air pilot, with headquarters at Palo Alto, has been visiting relatives in Victoria for some weeks, and was recently a guest of honor at a luncheon of the Victoria Women's Aeronautic Association at the Empress Hotel.

An Aberdonian was on a visit to Canada. There he met a Canadian, who asked him where he came from.

"Scotland," replied the Aberdonian.

"Give me your hand," said the stranger. "And what town do you come from?"

"Aberdeen," replied the Scot.

"Give me both your hands," said the Canadian hurriedly. "The last man I met from Aberdeen pinched my watch."

Miss M. A. Wigley Attends Convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at Montreal

MONTREAL, July 3. (CP).—Social activities including a tally-ho drive about Mount Royal Park, followed by breakfast as guests at a local department store featured this morning's activities of delegates to the convention of the Federation of Professional Women's Clubs. A round table discussion was also held, at which various topics were discussed.

The importance of making the individual club member feel she is a definite part of the national and international federations was stressed by Miss M. Anna Wigley, of Victoria, who led the discussion on a national programme committee. Miss Wigley thought a national programme committee, providing suggestions as to suitable programmes for such occasions as national and international nights, outlining study courses, and giving information as to reading matter on vital questions of the day, would be advisable.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, Miss M. Ethel Thornton, Winnipeg, was read, also those of the following committees: Publicity, Miss Rosa L. Shaw, Montreal; finance, Miss Eloise Girdlestone, Vancouver; legislation, Miss Mildred McMurray, Winnipeg; 1930-31 survey, Miss F. M. Postill, Montreal. Miss Margaret Clay, of Vicoria, read the report of the membership committee, prepared by the convener, Mrs. H. P. Hodges.

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Religious Group Protests Against Calendar Changes

Seventh-Day Adventists Lodge Objection With League of Nations to Blank-Day Principle of Proposed New Calendars

A LETTER of protest has been sent to the League of Nations by the executive committee of the Seventh Day Adventists denomination, directed against the revision of the Gregorian Calendar. This religious body, it is stated, is not opposed to calendar revision, per se, but only to such revision as would employ the blank-day principle, thus breaking, it is claimed, the weekly cycle.

The objection of this religious body is made to offset the propaganda in favor of calendars which embody what is termed the blank-day principle, such as the International Fixed Calendar and the World Calendar. The former provides for a thirteen-month year of twenty-eight days each, the extra or blank day being placed regularly on December 29, the last day of the proposed year cycle, the leap day being set at June 29, just before the proposed interjectioin of a month called Sol.

THE WORLD CALENDAR

The World Calendar has a twelve-month year with the extra year day on December 30 and the leap day on June 30.

The objection that is made against both these calendars and the claim for the present traditional sequence of the Gregorian Calendar is based, so the letter contends, upon the intimate connection between the present calendar and the religious practices, in that religious worship is closely relatetd to certain fixed days in the weekly cycle. "This is due," it is stated, "in the great majority of instances to the belief that a particular day has been set apart as sacred from the other days of the week, a belief that has preserved unbroken for many centuries a unique septenary cycle."

"ATTACK ON CONSCIENCE"

Any interference with such an arrangement would be, according to the argument, an unwarranted attack upon the conscience of citizens. "If a portion of the religious-minded of the population," the letter goes on to say, "refused to stultify its conscience by adjusting itself to such a calendar, civil government would be in the unhappy position of penalizing a religious group for its conscience adherence to age-old practices." This might happen when, for example, an employee, whose Sabbath came on a different day of the new calendar week each year and on two different days each leap year, refused on conscientious grounds, to refuse to work.

The whole question of calendar reform will be considered at an international conference next October in Geneva, when the report of the preparatory committee on calendar reform, which was appointed in 1923, will submit its findings and the various communications received from interested parties.

Dr. Davies Will Speak Tomorrow Evening on "Getting a Kick Out of Life"

The services of the Victoria City Temple will continue throughout the Summer at the Capitol Theatre, where the congregation will have the use of the grand organ for the singing and the musical part of the worship. The Capitol Theatre has been provided by the management on account of a permanent engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

Music for the day is as follows: Morning anthem, "O Saviour of the World" (Goll); evening anthem, "Jesu, Word of God Incarnate" (Mozart). The soloist will be Percy J. Edmonds.

It has been the custom of the City Temple to discontinue all activities during the Summer vacation, but this year, owing to the reconstruction of Temple Hall and the sponsoring of the Freiberg Passion Play, the organization's work will proceed without interruption, with the single exception of the Sunday school, which is closed until September.

KAGAWA MAY SPEAK HERE

Famous Japanese Christian Will Spend Five Days on Pacific Coast

Word has just been received by The Colonist from Tokio that Dr. Kagawa, the famous Japanese evangelist and social reformer, who is rated as one of the outstanding figures in Christendom today, will sail from Yokohama on July 9 on the Heiyan Maru, which is scheduled to reach this port and Seattle on July 20.

This message sets at rest the rumors that prevailed last Spring that Dr. Kagawa would not be able on account of ill health to fill the engagements planned for him on this continent. His secretary, Miss Helen Topping, writes that he is in good health and that the anxieties of a year ago as to his physical condition have been relegated to the background.

The itinerary as planned gives five days to Seattle, where he will speak to the Japanese and probably to some American groups. An effort will be made to get the distinguished Christian leader to come here for at least a day.

Dr. Kagawa's chief engagements are the world Y.M.C.A. congress in Toronto on July 29, and the international convention of the Y.M.C.A.'s of the United States and Canada, to be held in Cleveland, August 8 and 9. He will also meet the foreign mission boards in Toronto and give a series of lectures from October 2 to 5.

It is expected that he will sail from San Francisco on the Tatsuta Maru on October 15, to arrive in Yokohama on October 27.

REV. DR. SIPPRELL AT FIRST UNITED

Will Relate Experiences in Palestine During Passion Week—Dr. Ralph Steedman Evening Preacher

Rev. W. J. Sipprell, D.D., will be the preacher at the morning service in First United Church on Sunday. Illustrating out of his own remarkable experiences when recently in the Holy Land, he will speak on "Spiritual Experiences in Palestine During Passion Week—A Night in the Garden of Sorrow and A Morning at the Broken Tomb." With Dr. Sipprell's powers of observation and his rare descriptive gifts, this promises to be an address of exceptional interest.

At the evening service, Rev. Ralph E. Steedman, Ph.D., recent assistant professor of philosophy in Edinburgh, will preach. Dr. Steedman is a brilliant young Canadian who won academic honors in Scotland. His friends will be glad to learn of his return to Canada.

Dr. Wilson will celebrate the sacrament of Baptism at the morning service. There will be special music at both services.

Gift Given Pastor on Departure

REV. F. W. ANDERSON, M.A.

who has been minister of St. Andrew's-First Church, Nanaimo, for the past five years, was presented with a gold-headed walking cane previous to leaving for his new pastorate in Mission City.

CENTRAL TO GIVE HOPEFUL MESSAGE

"A Timely Message for the Discouraged" will be the nature of a sermon at the Central Baptist Church on Sunday evening, when Rev. J. B. Rowell will speak on "A Broken-Hearted World and the Compassion of the Lord Jesus." Miss Hall will sing the uplifting selection, "Does Jesus Care?" and the whole tenor of the service will be to turn the eyes of all who are distressed upon the only source of real encouragement.

The Lord's Supper will be observed.

In the morning Rev. Robert Bragg, of Anacortes, will preach. Mr. Bragg has been much used of God in Gospel work and an invitation is given to hear God's messages through him.

CHINA INLAND MISSION

The monthly evening meeting on behalf of the China Inland Mission will be held as usual in the Y.W.C.A. at 8 o'clock on Tuesday, July 7. All interested friends are invited. During July and August the third Tuesday afternoon meeting will not be held.

Students of Varied Races Assemble to Further Fraternity

Representatives of Twenty-Four Colleges Intermingle in Unity at Pacific Area Students' Conference at Bowen Island

THE Pacific Area Students' Conference that was recently held at Bowen Island, the leaders of which were described on this page last Saturday, in the course of an interview with Dr. John Mackay, of Manitoba College, was as distinctive in the personnel of the students attending as it was distinguished in the quality of those who led the discussions.

The fourscore delegates were picked young people, the sexes being about equally represented, chosen for their sympathy with the objective of the conference and for their ability to interpret its meaning and spirit to their fellow students. The objective as defined by the officials of the Student Christian Movement of Canada, who sponsored the gathering, is "to promote understanding and creative relationships between the peoples of the Pacific."

GREAT DIVERSITY

Within the bounds of this unity was the greatest kind of diversity. Physically, the color scheme of the group was polychromatic, ranging from the "nigger brown" of a good-looking negro from a Californian University through the browns of India and the Philippine and Hawaiian Islands, and the olives of China to the brunettes and blondes of British Columbia college girls. Just as diverse were the points of view that came out in the frank discussions that were carried on, not only in the lecture hours, but during the long walks or in front of the blazing fireplace at night. Here was a potpourri of opinion when East met West in the clash of friendly argument.

That there would be diversity of view would be gathered from the wide range of university life from which the students came. To name these centres is sufficiently suggestive: Edinburgh, Tokio, Redlands, Montreal, Honolulu, New Zealand, Victoria, Berkeley, Vancouver, Madras, Pasadena, Seattle, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Chicago. Twenty-four educational institutions in all were represented.

Cosmopolitan as was the crowd, the opportunities for intermingling were fully taken advantage of. These students of diverse color, race, training and ancestry ate and walked, domiciled and worshipped together. By an arrangement in grouping the meal tables from day to day became an introduction to a fresh fellowship. The McGill man became well acquainted with the man of Meiji University, Japan, and the clever disputant of Madras University sat beside delegates from the Prairie Provinces.

VARIETY OF STATUS

The variety of status, too, was intriguing. There were men taking postgraduate courses and others in the callowness of their freshmen year. A Cantonese from Redlands, California, is the captain of the university tennis team and during the conference tested the mettle of his rivals of the racquet. Some New Zealanders, out on a world tour, were enmeshed in the fellowship, and had, by the way, much to do with the fine spirit that prevailed. There were two Canadian-born Sikhs, whose fathers belong to those stalwarts of the North-western provinces of India, who have been as steadfastly loyal to the British Crown.

From this unique and unprecedented gathering, the first, it is predicted, of a series designed to foster fraternity among the peoples of the Pacific area, the representatives of Victoria College, Gordon Thomson, ex-president of the local Student Christian Movement, Cyril Chave, and Yukio Takahashi, bring enthusiastic reports of the stimulation and unifying influences received.

SCHMELING RETAINS HEAVY CROWN

Bob Pearce Reaches Final Round in Diamond Sculls at Henley

Canadian Sculler Defeats Southwood In Decisive Style

Wins Right to Meet F. Bradley for Coveted Prize Today—Giant Oarsman Impresses in Great Victory and Is Favored to Cop Final

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 3 (CP).—"Big Bob" Pearce, Canadian Australian sculling marvel, meets his sternest test tomorrow. But tonight he is favored to win the coveted Diamond Sculls, emblematic of the world's amateur singles title.

Bob, who moved from Australia to Hamilton, Ont., last year, meets F. Bradley, of Cambridge, in the final of the four-day event, and from all prerace "dope" Pearce seems to have a more than even chance of taking the Diamonds back to Canada. If he does so, he will be the fourth Canadian in history to have won the event. Away back in 1904, Lou Scholes, of Toronto, defeated H. A. Clouette, of London, in the final. Twenty-four years later another Torontonian, Joe Wright, Jr., defeated Lee, of Oxford, and then last year still a third Toronto boy, Jack Guest, defeated G. Boetzelen, of Germany.

Pearce has cut a wide swath in rowing circles in the past few years. He won the Olympic championship without tremendous difficulty, but was unable to enter the Diamond that year. Then in 1930, at Hamilton, he simply walked away with the British Empire championships, never being seriously threatened.

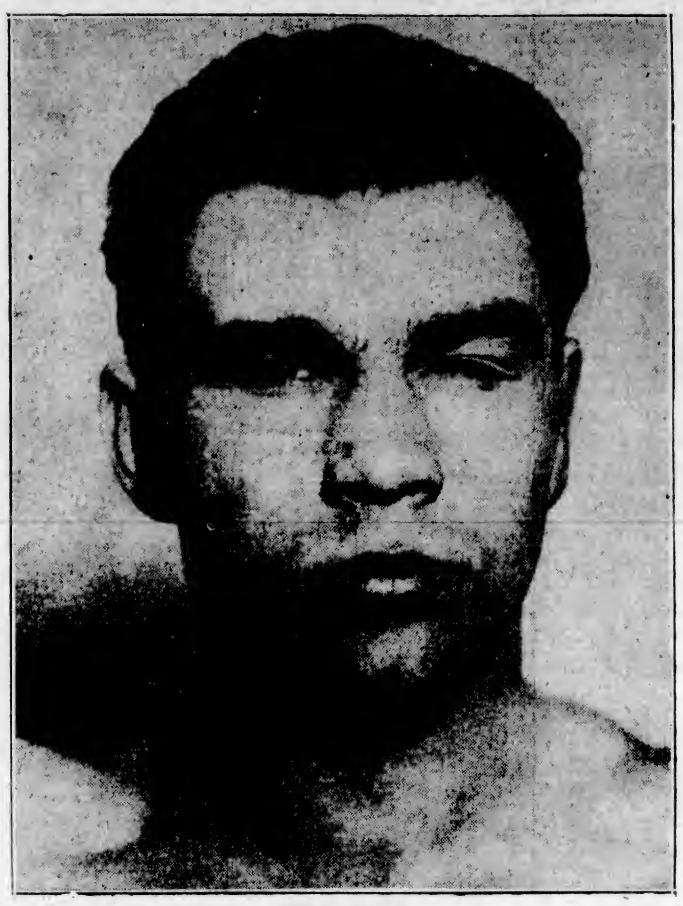

A GREAT RECORD

Since he went to England some months ago to prepare for the Diamonds, he won every senior event he entered. In the Diamonds themselves, he has defeated Brocklebank, Gentry and Southwood, three British aces who had been expected to furnish strong opposition.

Bob's victory over Southwood today was an impressive one. He was overanxious at the start and beat the gun, but was called back. When he did get away, however, he swung into a thirty-two-stroke pace that was irresistible. He was a length in front at Temple Island, and even when he slowed down to twenty-eight strokes, he was still pulling in front. He was fourteen seconds in front of Southwood at the finish and was breathing easily.

Bradley walked through the first round by defeating Natvig, of Kingston, by four lengths. Then today he easily defeated Clive, of Oxford.

Still Monarch of Heavyweights

MAX SCHMELING

Of Germany, who successfully defended his heavyweight championship last night at Cleveland when he scored a technical knockout over Young Bill Stribling, United States challenger, in the fifteenth round. Schmeling used a terrific attack in the last few rounds and gave the Southerner a sound lacing. The referee stopped the fight when Schmeling put Stribling to the mat twice, the first for the count of nine. Stribling was in bad shape and bleeding when the end came.

German Scores Tech K.O. Over Stribling In Fifteenth Round

Teuton Titleholder Gives United States Challenger Terrific Lacing in Closing Rounds of Championship Bout at Cleveland—Referee Stops Fight With Only 14 Seconds to Go

Pride of South Handed First Knockout of Long Ring Career

By WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1931, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, CLEVELAND, O., July 3.—With fourteen seconds of the last round left to go, Referee George Blake wisely stopped the Schmeling-Stribling bout here tonight and awarded the verdict to the German on a knockout.

An instant before Schmeling had dropped Stribling in his own corner with a sharp short left to the jaw. Stribling went down like a log but managed to struggle to his feet before Blake's arm had descended for the count of ten. He tried to clinch and hold, but Schmeling, practically unmarked and apparently as strong as when he entered the ring, tore after him savagely, and as he pushed Stribling away Strib reeled helplessly and it was evident that he was through.

STRIBLING COURAGEOUS

Stribling fought with courage tonight, if without ferocity. The ferocity was furnished by Schmeling, who fought and won like a champion. He started slowly, but from the fifth round on was master of the situation.

The only round in which Stribling made a good showing after the fifth was the eighth. That was his final rally. In the early rounds he could hit the German, but apparently couldn't hurt him.

As the fight progressed, Schmeling not only outfought Stribling, but as the Georgian slowed up Max outboxed him and pummeled him cruelly to the body in the clinches. This was a surprise, as most persons believed Stribling's greater experience would make him a better fighter close in.

If Schmeling can fight as well as this after a long layoff, he is going to be an exceedingly hard man for anybody to beat.

FIRST KNOCKOUT

This is the first time Stribling has ever been knocked out, but it seems almost certain that Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, will knock out many others before he is through.

Mayor Cermak of Chicago, John D. Hertz of Chicago and Mayor Hague of Jersey City were at the ringside.

FORMER CHAMPS ATTEND

James J. Tunney and James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champions of the world, were introduced from the ring and received a tremendous ovation.

Then Bobby Jones was with difficulty induced to come into the ring. After which Primo Carnera appeared.

Stribling was the first of the contestants to enter the ring. The gloves were already laced on his hands and he sat wrapped in his black bathrobe when Tommy Loughran was introduced.

Schmeling entered the ring three or four minutes after Stribling. The German wore a grey bathrobe with black markings, and was smiling genially, whereas Stribling looked serious. As they posed for their picture, with George Blake the referee, they stared at each other intently.

The weights were: Schmeling, 189; Stribling, 186½. The judges were John Alexander and Harry Morretz.

Round for round description follows:

ROUND ONE

The men came to the centre. Stribling feinted and rushed Max with a light left. Max missed a right and left to the head and they clinched. Stribling pawed with his left. Max missed a left hook. They clinched. Stribling drove a right to the head. Stribling jabbed Schmeling twice on the ear. Stribling drove a right uppercut toward the head, but Max blocked it. Max landed a right to the head and they clinched. Stribling landed a jab to the face and a left to ear and they clinched again. Schmeling reached Stribling with a left and in exchange got another left to the ear. Stribling jabbed two lefts to the face and landed a left hook to the ear as they clinched. Stribling had a shade in this round.

ROUND TWO

Again the men met in midring. Stribling led with a left and they clinched. Stribling uppercut Max to the nose and as Max backed him into a corner they clinched again. Max missed two left jabs, but landed a left to the ear. Stribling jabbed Max twice in the face. Stribling missed a hard left hook and they clinched. Max missed a hard right. Max landed a left to the face as they broke. Stribling landed a hard left and a hard right to the head. They exchanged lefts. Stribling landed a left to the body and they clinched. Schmeling missed two lefts to the face and took a left to the body and blocked a left to the face. Stribling was wild with a left and they clinched. Stribling landed an uppercut and hit Max with two rights on the ear. It was Stribling's round.

The best punch of the fight so far was Stribling's left punch to the face in this round.

ROUND THREE

The men sparred in the centre of the ring and clinched. Max missed a left to the face. Stribling landed a light left to head. Stribling hooked Max with a right to the jaw and shook him up. But the German was still strong. Max landed a left to the face and took a right to the head. They clinched. Stribling missed a left hook to the head and they clinched again. Stribling landed a right to the body and a right hook to the head. He jabbed Max in the nose with his left, but the German was still plodding in. Stribling landed a left to the ribs. The Georgian landed two lefts to the face and they fought in close. Stribling landed a hard right hook to the head. Max missed a left to the jaw as they clinched, but landed a light right to the body. It was Stribling's round.

Schmeling was doing the crowding, but Stribling was boxing too well for him.

ROUND FOUR

They met again in the middle of the ring and sparred. Stribling missed two hard rights; then landed a left, right and left to the head. Max missed a hard left hook and took an uppercut to the chin. Stribling crowded Max to the ropes and drove a right to the head. Stribling landed an uppercut and they clinched. Stribling jabbed Max to the nose, and in a clinch hit with a left in the face. Max landed a flurry of blows to the body in close but missed a hard left to the head. Stribling blocked a left and they clinched. Stribling landed a left and right to the head and they clinched again. Stribling missed a terrific uppercut and they went into a clinch. The clinches were short, the men breaking at their own accord. It was Stribling's round.

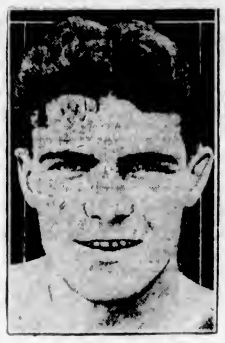

ROUND FIVE

ROUND SIX

They clinched and both missed lefts to the head. Stribling missed a left to the head and Max landed a couple of rights to the body as they fought with one arm free. Schmeling landed a left hook to the body and two left jabs to the face. Max landed a left to the

who was handed the first knockout of his lengthy ring career last night by Max Schmeling, of Germany, who successfully retained his world's heavyweight title. Stribling was given a terrific lacing in the closing rounds of the bout, and the referee stopped the slaughter with only fourteen seconds to go. Stribling had previously been floored for the count of nine and was in distress when the referee ended the mix.

Tomorrow they will meet in a scheduled twenty-round bout. Baer will weigh around 208 pounds to 198 for Paolino. The Californian is twenty-two years old; Uzcudun is thirty. XII—USE OF THE DRIVE AND CHOP

The forehand and backhand drive is fundamentally an offensive stroke. The chop is fundamentally a defensive stroke. The chop stroke player, no matter how efficiently he plays it, is distinctly in a defensive position so far as modern tennis is concerned. The drive, with its top spin, is primarily a weapon of attack—and in the same measure the chop stroke can only be used to defend one's position against a powerful attack or else throw the opposing player out of stride. A chop stroke bounces low off the ground with a back spin on the ball, thus limiting the opponent's hitting power. The chop seldom has the advantage of pace on the ball. The drive on the other hand—when it bounces, has an additional "kick" when coming off the ground, which forces the opponent to hurry his shots. Thus one differentiates between the two strokes. Learn first to drive. After this, supplement your driving game with the necessary chop strokes.

The chop stroke slows up the play. The drive speeds it up.

When pressed too hard by an opponent who is attacking your backhand—do not try to swap drives with him, but use the chop. The first ball that comes suitable, start driving again. This procedure is equally as good against an attack on your forehand. Cultivate a chop stroke on forehand and backhand which you can play straight down the side line. Continuously mix up these strokes as the play varies. Always remember that fundamentally the drive is an offensive stroke and the chop a defensive one.

HORSES RACE TO DEAD HEAT

Shell Transport and Recorder Provide Newmarket Fans With Thrilling Finish

NEW MARKET, England, July 3 (CP).—A thrilling finish resulted in the Princess of Wales Stakes yesterday, when W. M. Gazalet's Shell Transport and J. A. Dewar's The Recorder, raced to the wire in a dead heat. The Aga Khan's Pomme d'Api, in third place, was beaten off by only a short head.

Shell Transport, a three-year-old, by Pommern out of Scirburna, started at odds of 6 to 1. The Recorder, a four-year-old by Captain Cuttle out of Lady Juror, started at 10 to 11, and Pomme d'Api at 11 to 4.

Seven ran the distance of a mile and a half in the race, which has among its roll of winners some of the greatest horses of the English turf. The value was about $13,000.

SONNENBERG PINS RUSSIAN MATMAN

VANCOUVER, July 3 (CP).—Gus Sonnenberg, one-time claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated Count Gettsinoff, of Russia, taking two falls, in the main event of the wrestling card here last night. In the semi-final, Able Kaplan, New York, took two out of three falls to win from Billy Westernberg, Vancouver.

Cilli Aussem and Wood New Singles Tennis Champions

Former Defeats Hilda Krahwinkel in Straight Sets at Wimbledon as Latter Captures Men's Crown When Shields Is Forced to Default

LONDON, July 3 (AP).—Sidney B. Wood, Jr., not yet twenty years old, tomorrow will become Wimbleton tennis singles champion without lifting a racquet, succeeding to the title renounced by William Tatem Tilden II.

Wood's old Roxbury schoolmate and doubles partner, Frank X. Shields, today announced he would not contest the title. An injury to his knee in the semi-final match with Jean Borotra Wednesday was aggravated yesterday by his play in the doubles.

The injury, a strained ligament, is not serious, but specialists advised against putting any more strain on the damaged leg.

The withdrawal and the play-off of the women's singles title today leaves Wimbleton with only four matches tomorrow, the last semi-finals of women's doubles then the finals of that phase of play, and the finals of mixed doubles and men's doubles.

Cilli Aussem, who was carried off the centre court in this same tournament last year with a twisted ankle, defeated her fellow countrywoman, Hilda Krahwinkel, in the women's singles final 6-2, 7-5, to take the title to the Fatherland for the first time. Her play so exhausted Miss Krahwinkel that the latter had to stretch out on the turf and take a rest before posing for the cameramen.

BRITISH PAIR BEATEN

George Lott, Jr., and John Van Ryn, leading American combination and seeded number one in the draw, disposed of G. P. Hughes and Fred Perry, British pair, 6-4, 11-9, 8-6, and will meet Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, of France in the doubles finals.

Lott and Mrs. L. A. Harper had a walkover in the mixed doubles, Perry and Mary Heeley defaulting while leading by a set and 4-3 in games when Perry injured his ankle as he crashed into the stands after a ball. Perry wanted to continue but was prevailed on to save himself for the coming Davis Cup matches.

England must still meet and dispose of Czechoslovakia before the interzone final with the United States. The Americans will meet Ian G. Collins and Joan Ridley in the finals.

The women's doubles may be an all-British final, with Mrs. B. C. Shepherd-Barron and Phyllis Mudford already qualified and Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall playing the French pair of Doris Mextaxas and Josene Sigart in the first match tomorrow to determine the other finalist.

Miss Nuthall and Mrs. Whittingstall today eliminated the last American pair, Mrs. Harper and Mrs. John Van Ryn, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Stribling Offers No Alibis for Trimming

Southerner Says He Was Fairly and Squarely Beaten—Schmeling Declares Challenger Game Fighter—Hopes Fight Satisfied Public

By WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1931, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 3.—Max Schmeling was a happy, satisfied champion when he returned to his dressing-room.

"I am so happy," said the German, "that my heart wants to burst. I have dreamed for a year that I would prove myself a real champion. Now I'm happy. Stribling is a game man. He took a terrible beating before he went down. I waited a long time to put over that right hard punch. When I let it go, I knew it was all over. I hope the American public is satisfied with the fight I put up."

Stribling, downhearted and badly battered, his eyes swollen and his lips puffed, had nothing but words of praise for his conqueror.

"Schmeling beat me fairly and squarely," he said, "but I didn't see any necessity for stopping the fight with only a few more seconds to go. I took a bad licking and believe I could have continued to take more right up to the final gong."

NANAIMO FOOTBALL PLAYER FINED FOR HITTING LINESMAN

Guiness said the trouble commenced when he called for a corner, to which Edmunds objected. They met Sunday and the argument was resumed.

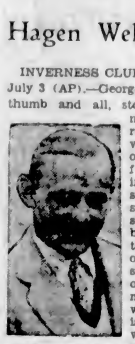

GEORGE VON ELM TAKES LEAD IN U. S. OPEN

Business Man Golfer Shoots Brilliant 69 In Second Eighteen

Lion-Hearted Prussian Burns Up Course in Last Nine With Sensational 32 for Thirty-Six-Hole Total of 144—Billie Burke and Eddie Williams One Stroke Behind

Hagen Well Up; Armour Slips Badly

INVERNESS CLUB, TOLEDO, O., July 3 (AP).—George Von Elm, sore thumb and all, stormed over no man's land of rugged old Inverness with one of the wildest finishes the golfing world ever saw today to snatch a one-shot lead in the bitter fight for the national open championship. Rated as only one of the mild threats when he finished the outward nine of his second eighteen-hole round, the lion-hearted Prussian ripped up the backward stretch with an astonishing 32, four under par, a great finish which netted him a second round of 69 and a thirty-six-hole total of 144, one better than Eddie Williams, of Cleveland, and Billie Burke, of Greenwich, Conn., who looked like certain pace setters at the half-way mark of the seventy-two-hole battle, until he came rambling home. The veteran Walter Hagen added another 74 for a total of 148.

GEORGE VON ELM

Von Elm's performance was the high spot in a wild day, which saw all of yesterday's dark horses stay in the big show, the almost failure of the famous Tommy Armour to qualify, a hole in one by Leo Diegel, and the final fade-out of the last foreign threats for the coveted title vacated by the retirement of Bobby Jones. Too, it made Von Elm, the business golfer, who has won a big share of the money tournaments this year, a big favorite to capture a crown that has always escaped his eager grasp.

Burke, who proved his game in the Ryder Cup matches at Scioto last week, turned in a sweet nine-hole round himself to keep in front.

Near the leaders with a 73 yesterday, Burke sank a chip shot for an eagle three on the ninth to get a 34, one under par. He slipped with a 38 coming back, but while it stopped his assault on par, it gave him a 72 for the day and a 144 total. Williams, one of the dark horse quartette, yesterday with his par 71, proved his nerve by clicking off a pair of 37's for a 74 to tie Burke. He missed several fine chances to trim his score when his putter failed him.

Two other members of the first day's dark horse quartette didn't equal their first-round tallies of 71, but they did get 75's, good enough for a tie for fourth place. They were Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N.Y., who scored 35-40, and Charlie Guest, of Deal, N.Y., who did just the opposite, going and coming today with a 40-35.

SARAZEN, ARMOUR OFF

Gene Sarazen and Armour, the two hand-picked candidates to succeed Bobby Jones, fared badly on their tours over the Inverness traps and narrow fairways today. Sarazen scored a 78, which added to his 74 of yesterday, gave him a 152 total, eight away from Von Elm, while Armour, visibly tired, got a horrible 83, which boomed his score to 158, the qualifying border line. Mortie Dutra, who was one of the leaders yesterday, added a 77 to his 71.

Sixty-three qualified at Armour's 158 total for the right to play in the final thirty-six-hole round tomorrow. Rounds of eighteen holes will be played in the morning and afternoon.

Out of the thirteen foreign stars who started the battle yesterday, only five remained tonight. And none of them were granted a chance to win in the final drive. They and their thirty-six-hole totals were Percy Alliss, Germany, 153; E. R. Whitcombe, England, 155; Auguste Boyer, France, 155; Billie Davies, England, 156, and Syd Easterbrook, England, 158. All of them fell today, especially Davies, who followed up his first-round score of 73 with an 83.

Stocks and Bonds Swing Upward on New York Market

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP).—The New York security markets did their best to make the Fourth glorious.

Buoyed by expectations of a successful termination to the debt discussions, stocks rallied consistently. The advance was attended by no such enthusiastic demonstrations as marked the first stages of the Hoover plan, but traders evidently thought the list was entitled to a further rally on the basis of the Paris and Washington dispatches.

The debt meetings have been uppermost in Wall Street's mind all week. Nervousness over the outcome was momentary. While the prevalent feeling was that too much was at stake to permit failure, the reassuring advices today prompted considerable jubilation, partly at the expense of the shorts. Sales were 2,100,000 shares.

U.S. Steel provided strong leadership, rising to 105 3-4, just a point over its previous recovery top. The final quotation was 105 making the net gain 2 3-4 points. Westinghouse, American Telephone, American Tobacco "B," Union Pacific, Rock Island, and Eastman Kodak rose 3 to 4 1-2 points, and a large number of shares gained one to two and more. The most conspicuous exception was National Biscuit, off as much as 3 points at the lowest and down 1 1-2 on the day.

Foreign exchanges were dull and firm. Far Easterns rose with silver and sterling cables advanced slightly.

The bond market moved ahead in lively fashion today, and trading was the most active since June 2. Sales totaled $13,389,000, compared with $14,103,000 on the earlier day. The advance was general throughout the list with railroad loans making the largest gains among domestic obligations.

Montreal Cottons Advances 10 Points; Canada Wire Gains 8

MONTREAL, July 3.—With New York again bullish, most prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange moved fractionally higher today in slightly increased sales volume due to a certain extent to tomorrow's holiday.

Brazilian Traction was the feature of the day, being active leader, and after opening at 23 1-8, rushed up to 24, its high of the session, where it closed with a gain of 1 1-4 points.

The largest advance of the day was recorded by Montreal Cottons, which soared 10 points at 93 1-2 on the first sale in over a month. Canada Wire & Cable was close behind Montreal Cottons, with an 8 1-2 point advance at 73. Consolidated Smelters rose 1 1-2 at 109 1-2, and Howard Smith gained a point at 4.

Montreal Power, International Nickel, Dryden Paper, Canadian Pacific, British Columbia Power, Charles Guard, Bank of Montreal, National Breweries, Power Corporation, Royal Bank and Canadian Power & Paper all advanced fractionally.

Montreal Telegraph lost 2 points at 48, and Canadian Car preferred at 21 was off a point.

France Buying Canadian Wheat

PARIS, July 3.—During the first four months of 1931 Canada sold more wheat to France than during the entire year of 1930, according to figures supplied by Colonel Barr, Canadian trade commissioner to France. The colonel said: "Already this year we sold to France 100,000 quintals more than last year. The total for the first four months of 1931 is 2,804,921 quintals as compared with 2,694,228 quintals in 1930. This shows that stocks of wheat in France are not large. In addition, 200,000 acres less have been sown, while rain has rotted much of the crop. Therefore, I believ

Janet Gaynor Scores Real Success in New Vehicle—Best Since "7th Heaven"

The hope of every screen actress is to get a vehicle that is perfectly suited to her talents. An excellent actress may, by sheer technique and ability, play a role that "isn't quite the type" and make it real and convincing—but she can always do infinitely better if the part fits her.

In the case of Janet Gaynor, however, this hope has been realized—not once, but twice. The first time was when she played the memorable "Diane" of "7th Heaven"—a role that might have been written to order for her unusual personality and her wistful appeal.

Now the lightning strikes a second time in her latest vehicle, "Dady Long Legs," opening at the Dominion Theatre today. As the immortal "Judy," the little orphan girl whose courage wins her eventual happiness, Miss Gaynor again has a part that measures up to her own high standards of poignant charm.

Warner Baxter is co-starred with Miss Gaynor in the film. Una Merkel, John Ariedge, Claude Gillingwater, Kathlyn Williams, Elizabeth Patterson, Louise Closser Hale, Effie Ellsler and other favorites are also in the cast.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Stage

Playhouse—Walkathon - Marathon.

Royal—Super-Walkathon.

On the Screen

Capitol — "Tol'able David," starring Richard Cromwell.

Coliseum — Skeets Gallacher in "Up Pops the Devil."

Columbia—"The Dawn Trail," featuring Buck Jones.

Dominion—Janet Gaynor in "Daddy Long Legs."

COLUMBIA THEATRE Buck Jones fairly surpasses himself in "The Dawn Trail," the new Columbia "Western," which closes at the Columbia Theatre today. Never has this dashing exponent of the Western type of melodrama appeared to better advantage than in his present picture, which not only gives him an opportunity to thrill his audience with daring riding stunts, but supplies him as well with a good acting role.

CAPITOL THEATRE Richard Cromwell, the young Los Angeles artist who was recently launched into a brilliant screen career when Harry Cohn, of Columbia Pictures, chose him from 172 contestants for the title role of "Tol'able David," the film adaptation of Joseph Hergesheimer's celebrated story now showing at the Capitol Theatre, got quite an assignment when he completed work in the picture.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Eight couples are still carrying on in fine style after 280 hours of walking. All contestants are in splendid condition. Stan Berriman, who was feeling a little tired yesterday, has fully recovered and it looks as though he will carry on for some time yet. Monday and Thursday nights of next week will be frolic nights. Tuesday night will usher in amateur night, with all local talent.

ROYAL THEATRE Tonight, at the Royal where the super-walkathon is in its 110th hour, the management is staging an indoor sports night, with funny games and silly contests that will be open to both the spectators and the contestants. Laughs and thrills will chase each other in fast succession, and Mickey Thayer, star announcer and master of ceremonies, is offering a snappy programme of entertainment, along with the contestants, and a fine bill of music and specialties.

"Up Pops the Devil" Carries Theme of Love in a Greenwich Village

Love in Greenwich Village is the theme of "Up Pops the Devil," starring Skeets Gallacher, Paramount's latest comedy-romance adaptation of a Broadway hit of last season, which comes to the Coliseum Theatre for a three-day run.

The story concerns the marital difficulties of Norman Foster and Carole Lombard, as the young writer and his ex-dancer wife.

They live in an apartment in the quaint and very sophisticated section of New York City, where young people of many professions gather for refreshment and amusement. Foster and his wife agree that they will "never get anywhere" if they continue this happy-go-lucky, gin and din existence, and so they plan a renaissance.

Amusing and near-tragic events result—but the domestic scene rights itself in the pleasing finish.

Night Baseball Introduced to Vancouver Fans

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Night baseball was inaugurated at the Athletic Park here tonight, when over 5,000 fans turned out to witness four Senior City League teams in a double-header. Firemen, the league leaders, defeated Arrows, 5 to 3, in the opener, while Vancouver A.C. took a 1-to-0 victory from B.C. Telephone in the second contest.

Huge batteries of lights surrounded the park, making it light as day. Fifty-four shades, containing two powerful lamps apiece, had been installed in such a way that shadows were negligible and glare almost eliminated.

It was the first time in Western Canada that night baseball had been attempted.

Nothing strange about many smart women never having married. That's why they are smart.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

"What inveterate grumblers we are! Rover," said I, as we two rovers sat on one of the 'seats for veterans,' that grace the stone Causeway, "and, when we cannot find anything to grumble about, we grumble about 'grumbling about'."

This evidently irked my canine companion for he stopped his gazing at a couple of young ladies, who passed us, dressed in natty berets, one of an orange hue and the other a green-like blue, whose upper decks were bedecked in blouses of an indescribable pink, over which was carelessly worn a coatee of black velvet. (Of the shape and pattern and cut of their lower deck nether garments one hesitates to speak, write or type, since they were of the type that is unspeakable and usually written "pants" a la sheik! Nuff sed! However, we must note that the gussets, or inlets, or inlaids, or applicade triangular portion, near the effete feature of the keel, was, in one instance, of a yellow-orange tint, and the other reminded us of the red flag of the Communist.)

"What particular form of grumbling is eating you, Master, this fine morning?"

"Firstly, Rover, the pernicious grumbling of our weather-kickers. Only a few days ago, we had certain rainy days, the memory of which is now already packed away for keeps. But, Mr. Manybody keeps on harping about it, every time we meet. Why! It was nothing to what people in other places had to put up with."

In Douglas, Isle of Man, usually the very finest climate in the world, in June last, for the first seven days of the month, there were 4.13 inches of rain, or over 400 tons to the acre. That's a rain! The hours of sunshine, over the same period, were 6.8, while the corresponding week, last year, 86.1 hours of sunshine were recorded. And, most important of all, the number of grumblers in the dear old Island has decreased, instead of increasing, as it has here!

"Magnificent!" remarked Rover.

At Castletown, the former capital of Mona's Isle, between midday of the first Tuesday of June and the following day, at 9 o'clock, the rainfall was one and a half inches, or 165 tons to the acre, and the land at Ballaclough, on the outskirts of the town, was flooded; but here, not a skirt was even moist from the drizzles we call rain: in fact, had Miss Victoria's skirts got wet, in all probability the whole population would have had to take to boats as the water would have been more than knee deep, and then some!

"And how!" smiled Rover.

And, in the neighboring State of Washington, in the U.S.A., south of us, last Monday, snow fell for an hour and a half in the Wenatchee Mountains, their first snow in June for twenty-three years; but here, grumblers kicked for three hours and three-quarters, just because three drops of warm rain helped our gardens out and laid the dust on the only unpaved street in the city limits.

"Well, Master, as everyone seems to be kicking at something, let me have a shot at a good kick! It's this: Since I have to listen to the torrents of abuse of Ottawa for raising the postal rates, both from you and the rest of the dissatisfied and disgruntled civilized humans who use the mails to a greater or lesser extent, every day, including Sundays, I, too, would add my loudest and most peculiarly ear-piercing bark and howl to the chorus of all who look to a penny postal rate for the Empire as an hereditary right and privilege that it is disgraceful and economically stupid to change! Bow-wow!"

All we writers of love-letters
And of business letters, too,
Should espouse a strict economy
And determination—rigid;
And thus show those tax go-getters,
In the Eastern Postal Zoo,
Their new postal regulations
Are received with feelings frigid!

Empress Will Sail For Far East Ports On Monday Morning

Held at Vancouver—Steamship Lines Combine for Fast Transportation to Europe—Captain "Matt" Peasley Takes Expedition North

The Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Asia, Captain L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., is being held over at Vancouver and will not sail from here as scheduled this afternoon. The delayed sailing of the ship was arranged in order to accommodate a party of delegates to the meetings of the National Education Association, who planned to reach Vancouver from San Francisco in order to catch the liner. Changes in the party's itinerary have necessitated the cancellation of the reservation, but the company's officials will adhere to the scheduled midnight sailing on Sunday for the benefit of other passengers already so advised.

The Empress of Asia has a fair passenger list outward and an absolutely full cargo. The latter consists of flour, paper and other general, and also a large refrigerator consignment. Her refrigerated chambers are filled with California grapes and cabbages and other vegetables and fruits for the Orient. Passenger travel westward at this time of year is always light, as the Orient is just now beginning to sweiter in Summer heat.

LINES COMBINE

Twenty five days, via the all-water route, from the Pacific Northwest to London, is the record-breaking time to be established by the United States Lines, the Dollar Steamship Lines and the Pacific Steamship Company, it was announced in Seattle yesterday. The hook-up has been arranged by the three companies, which provide the fastest all-water journey ever attempted from the Northwest to Europe and the United Kingdom. The Ss. H. F. Alexander, from Seattle and Victoria to San Francisco; Dollar liners from San Francisco to New York, and the Leviathan, of the United States Lines, from New York to the United Kingdom, are included in the combination.

Ten eager boys boarded the auxiliary sloop Linda at Seattle yesterday for a voyage to Alaska waters, looking forward to adventures such as most boys find only in books. Their skipper is Captain Ralph (Matt) Peasley, immortalized in fiction by Peter B. Kyne, and one of the most romantic sailormen in the world of ships. Under his leadership the expedition will cruise up the inside passage to far-away haunts of the "killer" whale near Glacier Bay.

TWELVE IN PARTY

Moving pictures will be taken of whales in their native haunts. Beside the "movie" pictures many "still" pictures will be taken, as everyone aboard has a camera along. F. W. Schmoe, naturalist of the Puget Sound Academy of Science, organized the cruise. With him, under Captain Peasley, are Samuel Harby, physical education instructor at Columbia University, New York, and Harry Holt, Oregon High School principal.

The Linda was to call at Friday Harbor, where two boys from Denver were to be picked up, increasing the number aboard to an even dozen. Under a commission from the State Museum to collect flora and fauna of Alaska, the expedition will try and bring back as spectacular a find as was obtained last year when the Linda returned with the 100-year-old mummy of an Indian child.

Declared to be a record for loading lumber on the Fraser River, the Ms. Lundby, Captain E. V. Erickson, and under charter to British Columbia Shipping Agencies Limited, arrived at Fraser Mills at 6 o'clock in the morning of Thursday, June 25, and finished loading at 5 o'clock on the evening of June 30, the lumber cargo amounting to 4,060,000 feet. Her average daily loading was 750,000 feet, and her highest daily was 900,000 feet. The cargo was for Port Pirie, Australia.

EXCURSIONISTS RETURN

Following a tour of Northern British Columbia and Alaska waters, one hundred members of the Portland Chamber of Commerce arrived at Vancouver yesterday morning on the Ss. Princess Charlotte. The majority of the party arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon on the Canadian Pacific ferry from Vancouver and proceeded through to Seattle. On the arrival of the ferry steamer, Stewart Williams, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce, met the boat and remained with the members of the returning party until the boat pulled out for Seattle. On their way north last week the party was officially entertained here.

Arriving at William Head Quarantine Station at 9:30 o'clock last night, the Furness liner Pacific Reliance docked at Rithet Piers shortly before 11 o'clock. Cargo will be discharged this morning, when the ship will proceed to Mainland ports.

DUE ON WEDNESDAY

From Japan ports, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Ss. Shidzuoka Maru is due to reach Ogden Point Piers some time Wednesday next, according to the local office of the line. The Shidzouka Maru has four first class passengers and one third class traveler for Victoria, and twenty-six tons of general cargo.

From Port Alice and way ports on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the B.C. Coast Service Ss. Princess Norah arrived at the Belleville Street docks early yesterday afternoon. She will sail again for the West Coast on Monday evening next.

Providing a cruise by water to Brentwood Bay, the B.C. Coast Service will run its popular excursion vessel Ss. Princess Patricia to that locality on Tuesday, July 7. The boat will leave the Belleville Street docks at 2 o'clock and Brentwood at 6 o'clock returning, giving everyone an opportunity to visit the beautiful Butchart Gardens.

Destroyers Were Made Welcome at Port of Halifax

HALIFAX, July 3 (CP).—The two new Canadian destroyers, Skeena and Saguenay, came up Halifax harbor at 3:15 o'clock Atlantic daylighting time this afternoon, to the accompaniment of whistles and sirens from shipping in the harbor. Fog hung over the water and it was not until the destroyers and their escort were well up the stream that word of their arrival from England flashed along the waterfront.

Japanese Journalist Racing Around World Will Be Here Monday

NEWARK, N.J., July 3 (AP).—Kenzo Fukuma, Tokio journalist, racing compatriot around the world, using only scheduled means of transportation, left Newark Metropolitan airport at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon for Chicago.

At Chicago, Fukuma will change planes for Seattle and from there will continue to Victoria, where he expects to get the Ss. Empress of Asia for Tokio on Monday. He hoped to reach Tokio in time to complete his trip around the globe in thirty days.

Fukuma left Tokio June 15, flew to Korea and thence to Moscow, Paris and London, where he took the Aquitania across the Atlantic.

His opponent in the race, Butemaru Shingu, going eastward, reached Newark June 22 and was in Moscow six days later. There, however, he was injured in a plane crash. He was delayed four days and was reported to have left there yesterday.

SERVICE CAN BE ADJUSTED

Official Believes Railroads Equal to Present Day Conditions

Operation of well-equipped trains that make a liberal number of scheduled stops and a rate of speed between stations sufficient to compensate for stops at intervals of about twenty-five miles, will adjust passenger train service to meet specifically the new requirements of the present day and thus win back much short distance passenger traffic lost to the highways in recent years, according to H. E. Newcomet, vice-president of the Pennsylvania. "Our experiments point the way to a solution of a problem that has bothered railroad men for years," says Mr. Newcomet.

TIME FOR CHANGE

"With the rise of the motor car, local passenger train service of 1910 vintage has dwindled almost to extinction. In the same period, however, there has been a general increase in the patronage of long-distance passenger trains. It is in this gap between the milk train of fast-fading memory and the long-distance flyers that the new type service, attuned closely to the needs of the times, finds a warm welcome and profitable business. Although long-distance trains making a limited number of stops meet a definite need, they, nevertheless, run right by hundreds of potential patrons, whose transportation needs are not adequately served by the old style accommodation train.

FORGET BUGGY AGE

"In the era before the motor car came into wide use, stations were deliberately placed along a railroad at intervals of four to eight miles. The general idea was to enable farmers and others using the horse and buggy on unimproved roads to reach a railroad station in not more than two hours to board a local train for a comparatively short trip down the line. The widespread use of the private automobile and the extension of hard surface roads have made this set-up obsolete. In the time formerly required to reach the railroad station, the farmer now motors thirty-five to forty miles to the county seat or other destination. The answer, Mr. Newcomet asserts, is to provide train service adapted to the automobile age, forgetting about the local train of horse and buggy days.

Yachts Start From Newport Today in Race to Plymouth

Expect to Finish About End of Month—One British Boat Competing, Ilex, Sailed by Royal Engineers

Probably the most ambitious event for small yachts ever promoted is the Transatlantic Race starting today from Newport, Rhode Island, to finish, unless the North Atlantic is abnormally dirty, towards the end of the month at Plymouth, England. Over a dozen yachts will start in this contest, which has been jointly arranged by the Cruising Club of America and the Ocean Racing Club. "The object of the race," say the promoters, "is primarily to furnish a test of yachts of cruising type, strongly built and rigged, properly ballasted, with closed cabins and watertight cockpits." The competing craft are limited to a length of not more than seventy-two feet, and not more than forty-five feet in overall length.

For a time it looked as though there would be several entries from the other side competing, then it looked as though Europe would have no representative whatever. But for political changes in Spain, that country would have had one or two boats starting. It has been known for some time that British yacht clubs would be represented by one entry, and this boat has been tuning up in American waters for several weeks, having been freighted across the Atlantic on a cargo vessel. As there has been nothing made public in connection with the boats starting today during the past two weeks, it is possible there may be another entry added to that of Ilex, the craft which members of the Royal Engineer Yacht Club pin their faith to.

"GRANNIE" OF FLEET

If all things were equal in yachts and yacht-management, Ilex would be seriously handicapped at the outset. She is easily the "Grannie" of the fleet setting out for Plymouth from Newport today. As a yacht is a lady boat, it may not be good form to disclose the number of her years; but probably Ilex won't mind on this occasion. She is thirty-two. She was designed by Nicholson, who was responsible for a number of Shamrocks, and is an old-fashioned yawl of just twenty tons. In a sheltered waterway, Ilex would have no chance whatever to make a creditable showing, but this transatlantic race is not a regatta.

Success in ocean racing is won by driving an able vessel to the sustained limit of her endurance, and this taxes every resource of the crew. The young officers who sail Ilex have the reputation of being hard drivers, and handle her with the utmost resolution and skill. According to one yachting authority they "drive her like the devil. They are fine sailormen, these soldiers." Ilex has won the Fastnet Race and the Plymouth-Santander Brese, beating the formidable Jolie Brese. Both these races are in the open Atlantic and test the mettle of craft and crew.

BLUE RIBBON EVENT

It is probable that most of the vessels racing over from Newport will take part in the Fastnet Race. This race is regarded as the Blue Ribbon event of ocean racing, although compared with the Atlantic crossing it is but a short race. What it lacks in distance it makes up in the severity of weather conditions. Usually the weather in August is as bad as it can be, and that is very wild and wet. It generally happens that competing craft have a long and hard beat out to lonely Fastnet Rock, working to windward for days on end. In good weather the English Channel and the stretch from the Lizard to the Fastnet can be pleasant sailing; in bad weather it is an exasperating and exhausting grind.

The Fastnet Race starts from Cowes on August 11. The course is eastward round the Isle of Wight, down Channel, out to and round the Fastnet Rock (off Southwest Ireland) and back to a finish in Plymouth Sound. The distance is about 630 miles. The event is limited to vessels of between fifty and thirty-seven feet in waterline length.

Prizegiving And Picnic at Oyster School

CHEMAINUS, July 3.—Miss N. Clement, teacher of the Oyster School, gave her pupils a most delightful closing picnic, at which hiking and sports were greatly enjoyed. Unfortunately, on account of the unfavorable weather, the programme of sports had to be short.

At the closing session of the Oyster School, the following children were awarded rolls of honor. Proficiency, Gertrude Nelson; conduct, Barry Guilbride; attendance, and punctuality, Bobby and Charlie Porter. Harry Porter, Alan Brawn and Edith Solmie. Special prizes were awarded to Blanche Rumble, Getrtrude Nelson, Jean Porter, Bobby Porter, Francis Guilbride and Alan Brawn.

A good number of parents and nearly all the pupils attended the St. Michael's and All Angels' Sunday School prize giving held recently in the Parish Hall.

Mable Knight received three stars for conduct, attendance and proficiency. Joy Lang and Harold Knight were given special prizes for perfect attendance, and special prizes were also given to Dorothy Fraser and Hazel Leeson by their teacher, Mrs. Dobinson, for neatness of work. Then followed the general distribution of prizes.
